Russian Roulette Fatal To Vandalia Grocery Chief

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—"He pointed the gun at me and clicked it twice. I didn't think anything about it. He was always kidding around."

Don Sheer, a 17-year-old stock boy at the PDQ Supermarket here. He was describing a game that his boss, James Rosenfeld, was playing in his office Tuesday night.

"Then he opened the gun up and showed me the bullet. He said the next one would have been mine."

But the next bullet wasn't Sheer's. It was Rosenfeld's.

The 23-year-old manager put the gun to his head and pulled the trigger. A shot rang out. By the time officials arrived, Rosenfeld was dead.

Rosenfeld's game began earlier, officials said, when Rosenfeld pointed the gun at another employee, Dave Seitz, 17, and pulled the trigger.

Space Shot Tests High Temperature

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A spacecraft named Fire blazed back through the atmosphere faster than any previous space payload Tuesday night and radioed a wealth of information which could make manned trips to the moon safer.

The spacecraft, looking like a compact model of the Apollo moonship, rode an Atlas missile more than 500 miles into space. As it plummeted back toward earth, a 10-foot-long rocket fired and increased payload speed from about 15,000 to 25,166 miles an hour.

The speed was slightly higher than that the Apollo craft is to attain in returning astronauts from the moon. It also was more than 7,000 miles an hour faster than the velocity recorded by any previous space vehicle re-entering the earth's atmosphere.

As the 200-pound payload made the meteoric dive, it radioed information on the heat that seared its blunt shield.

A great shock wave built up in front of the payload and temperature of gases within the wave reached 200,000 degrees. An observer at the South Atlantic tracking station on Ascension Island described the spacecraft as a ball of fire.

The recorder made a full report on stored data before the craft plunged into the ocean 5,200 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy.

Cuban Population Growth Is Increasing

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuba's population was reported at a record high today despite a steady exodus of refugees.

The Cuban Economists Association in Exile said the birth rate has climbed so much that Cuba will have 7,700,000 inhabitants by late 1964.

Cuba's last census, in 1953, was 5,829,029. The figure was estimated at 7 million when Prime Minister Fidel Castro took over in 1959. More than 300,000 Cubans have gone into exile since then.

NO RAIL ACCORD IN SIGHT

Barry Shares Glory with Lady Senator

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater's victory in the Illinois presidential preference primary shared interest today with a surprising show of strength by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith.

Charles H. Percy, who stepped into a president's post in industry at 29, captured the Republican nomination for governor at the age of 44.

Returns from Tuesday's primary gave these percentages of the preference vote: Goldwater 63, Mrs. Smith 26, Henry Cabot Lodge 6 and Richard M. Nixon 3, with the remainder split up among several others.

Only the names of Sen. Goldwater and Sen. Smith were printed on the Republican ballots. Others scored by the write-in method on both party ballots, although the Lodge and Nixon boosters did not specifically seek write-ins.

Percy, now board chairman of the Bell & Howell Co., made a successful start in his first try for public office by defeating State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37.

The winner also took a first step toward control of the GOP in Illinois. The triumph, in addition, gave him a position of influence among delegates to the party's national convention in July.

"I'm going to cast my vote with the majority of the delegates," Percy said.

Vietnamese Reds Score Major Gain

TAN PHU, South Viet Nam (AP)—A three-day battle with two Communist Viet Cong battalions has left this southern Mekong Delta region bleeding and grief stricken and cost the government its heaviest casualties in the Viet Nam war.

American advisers reported nearly 300 government soldiers dead or wounded.

Civilian casualties may exceed 200, an American adviser said. They apparently were deliberately inflicted by the Communists on government sympathizers.

American observers called the action "a stunning Communist political victory."

One American enlisted man, a helicopter crewman, was killed by ground fire Sunday. A dozen other Americans were wounded.

American advisers counted 50 or 60 bodies of guerrillas in charred paddies. The enemy losses were believed to be much heavier, Vietnamese officers said. The Reds carried the fight into government lines, even in daylight.

Hussein Opposes Israeli Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—King Hussein of Jordan presses Arab opposition to Israel's plan to divert Jordan River waters for irrigation purposes as he continues talks today with President Johnson and other top U.S. officials.

The 28-year-old monarch told a news conference Tuesday that the Israeli plan was a "violation of international law, an act which hits the stability in the area." He said he saw no prospect for a compromise.

Israel plans to use the Jordan waters to irrigate the Negev Desert.

A communique was to be issued late today after Johnson and Hussein wind up their talks with an afternoon conference. The monarch was also scheduled to visit the State Department and confer with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Veteran Solon Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien, 85, of Chicago, Democratic representative from Illinois, died Tuesday. He was the oldest member of the House and was nominated for another term in Tuesday's primary election.

Pentagon Kills 'Myth' that U.S. Is Declining in Arms Superiority

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara permitted use of intelligence estimates to challenge Gen. Curtis E. LeMay because he wanted to kill at birth any myth about declining U.S. military superiority.

This was learned from defense officials today as the gulf widened between the strong-willed defense secretary and the equally strong-minded Air Force chief of staff.

Late Tuesday, the Pentagon issued a statement stressing "the increasing military superiority of the United States." It came after publication of LeMay's February congressional testimony contending the Russians are narrowing the gap.

One high official familiar with McNamara's thinking said the defense secretary feels it is "dangerous to raise any doubts about our strength."

"He thinks it would be wrong to sit by and allow creation of a myth—and it is a myth in his judgment—that there is any lessening of our strength," this official said.

The Defense Department statement did not name LeMay. Authorities would not acknowledge it was aimed at the controversial Air Force chief of staff, who feels McNamara is placing too much reliance on missiles and waving the manned bomber to the sidelines too early.

Officials noted that there had been a spate of criticisms, including a new defense strategy paper spelling out the views of one of McNamara's strongest foes, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

To support its declaration that our superiority "has been increasing and we intend that it shall continue to increase," the Pentagon disclosed that:

—The United States has 540 strategic bombers constantly on alert and that the Soviets "could place over this country, on two-way missions," no more than 270 bombers, including 150 mediums that could hit only Alaska and the U.S. Northwest.

—The Air Force has about 750 intercontinental ballistic missiles ready to launch while the Soviets have less than one-fourth that number in operation. That would be fewer than 187.

—We have 192 Polaris missiles deployed; the Soviets have substantially fewer submarine-launched ballistic missiles in operation.

—U.S. Polaris submarines are all nuclear-powered; only a small percentage of Soviet missile subs are atomic-run. Polaris missiles can be fired from under water; the Soviet missiles can't. Each U.S. Polaris rocket has at least a 1,500-mile range; the Soviet missiles less than 500.

As for relative bomber strength since 1961, the Pentagon statement suggested this favors the United States—that the U.S. bomber force on combat alert has increased from less than 500 then while the Soviet bomber force has stayed about the same.

Both sides had only about "a handful" of intercontinental ballistic missiles or submarine-launched missiles deployed back in January 1961, the Pentagon said.

The implication here was that both sides started at about the same place three years ago and that the United States has vaulted ahead, not slowed down.

Johnson Says Decision Due By Monday

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said today "there is no settlement yet" in the railroad labor dispute which he is trying to help solve to avoid a nationwide strike.

Johnson said at a news conference it should be known no later than next Monday whether the unions and railroads can settle the five-year old dispute in the emergency bargaining sessions arranged by the President.

"The country expects that answer to be yes," Johnson said. He said the bargainers in five days of talks have "narrowed the area of difference on some of the issues" in the complicated dispute over wage structure and working conditions.

A 15-day nationwide strike postponement which Johnson won from the two sides expires at 12:01 a.m. April 25.

Johnson discussed the status of the settlement efforts after receiving from federal mediators an accounting that was originally scheduled as a report on "the progress and the effectiveness" of the first five days of the emergency talks.

A highly cautious White House spokesman Tuesday refrained from even referring to it as a "progress" report.

"There is nothing thus far that in any way could be characterized as either progress or a set-back," he said.

The White House went to considerable pains to deny published reports that the talks could be described as optimistic.

"To characterize what is happening either in terms of optimism or pessimism is a disservice not only to the negotiations themselves but to accurate reporting," the spokesman said.

"I want to make it clear that I do not know whether... the mediators will be able to say that progress has been made in the sense of 'we have moved within 10 feet of a solution' or 'we have moved within 13 feet of a solution,'" the spokesman said.

"I have no idea in the world, and I don't think the mediators would at this point, and I do not think the participants on either side would."

The emergency talks are aimed at achieving in 15 days a settlement that the government, railroads and unions have failed to obtain in nearly five years of the dispute over wage structure and working conditions.

All other procedures under the law have been exhausted, and Johnson does not now have the power to order a halt or a postponement of a strike.

The President won the 15-day postponement just before some 200,000 engineers, firemen, switchmen, conductors and brakemen were to strike on nearly 200 railroads at 12:01 a.m. last Friday.

Although the White House is maintaining control of all official information on the talks, there are indications that both industry and union sources agree it is too early to predict the outcome.

The White House re-emphasized that Johnson wants today's report so he can determine if any other steps are needed to help the collective bargaining process.

Ohio Housewife Nears Mainland

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Aviator Geraldine Mock headed for Oakland today, closing in on her goal of becoming the first woman to fly solo around the world.

The 28-year-old Columbus, Ohio housewife expected to land at Oakland Airport at 11:57 a.m. PST, 16 1/2 hours after taking off from Honolulu in her single-engine plane.

Mrs. Mock disclosed her new flight plan when she landed in Hawaii, calling for her to fly back to Columbus from the West Coast—via El Paso, Tex. That would allow her to make the official around-the-world mileage she needs—22,858.8 miles. She lost mileage earlier on the trip when she skipped Singapore.

Many Republicans Believe Lodge Must Return Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—Influential Republicans of all shades of opinion believe primary victories will not be enough and Henry Cabot Lodge must campaign personally if he wants to try to win the GOP presidential nomination.

A cross-section survey of party members who will have a voice in the choice of a nominee disclosed nearly unanimous opinion that the current boom for Lodge will flatten out if he remains as U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam until convention time.

Lodge has said he isn't a candidate for the nomination and can't participate in politics while he serves as ambassador. President Johnson said last week that Lodge is playing a "very constructive role" in Viet Nam and is under no pressure to resign.

Irving Salomon, a close adviser, reported after talking to the ambassador on a recent Far Eastern trip he can't say whether Lodge will resign by June, "but he cannot ethically be an ambassador and be involved in politics."

Lodge's current front-running status in national polls and his prospect of topping other candidates in the May 15 Oregon primary are attributed to various factors. One often mentioned is that of voter dissatisfaction with other presidential aspirants.

The surge for Lodge also is credited to his experience in the foreign affairs field, his remembered television image as a tough opponent of communism as U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and his lack of involvement in current GOP bickering over conservative and moderate views.

A former Republican national chairman, who didn't want to be quoted by name, summed up Lodge's appeal this way: "This is the guy who is least undesirable to the voters at this point. They are disenchanted with everybody else."

But he added: "Lodge is not another Eisenhower. He is going to have to come home and answer questions on where he stands if he expects to get the nomination. He's also going to have to show he can take the pace of vigorous presidential campaigning."

Nixon Urges Tougher Line

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, arriving home today from a 3 1/2-week business trip to a number of Asian and European countries, said the United States should adopt a "harder and stronger" attitude toward Communist aggression in Asia.

The former vice president, speaking to newsmen at John F. Kennedy International Airport, criticized Sen. J. William Fulbright D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Nixon, a Republican, said Fulbright recently called for a more "flexible, softer line" toward communism.

Nixon, who is frequently mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination this year although he says he is not a candidate, told newsmen he "will give some major recommendations with regard to United States foreign policy" in speeches to the New York Chamber of Commerce Thursday and the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, D.C., Saturday.

Cincy Teenage Speeders Due To Lose Licenses

CINCINNATI (AP)—Teenage drivers caught speeding in Hamilton County from now on will lose their licenses. Juvenile Court Judge Benjamin S. Schwartz Tuesday ordered court referees to suspend the licenses of the youthful offenders, with the length of suspension to vary with each case.

The Turks were among about 30 entrenched on a strategic hill 12 miles north of Nicosia.

Nicosia, Cyprus (AP)—Seated clashes flared on Cyprus again today and three Turkish Cypriots were reported killed. Canadian U.N. troops were shot at in two outbreaks and returned the fire.

Greek Cypriot sources said three Turks were killed during the night when Greek fighters overran an advance Turkish position in the Kyrenia Mountains. U.N. officers there are seeking to avert a pitched battle.

The Turks were among about 30 entrenched on a strategic hill 12 miles north of Nicosia.

Veterinarian, Sulky Driver Suspended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The U. S. Trotting Association today suspended a driver and a veterinarian, bringing to nine the total penalized following investigation of 1963 racing irregularities at nearby Scioto Downs.

Samuel E. Calli, 30, a driver from North Vernon, Ind., was suspended for five years, and Dr. William E. Davis Jr., a Columbus veterinarian and part-time driver, was set down for one year. Both were denied USTA membership.

The USTA said Calli was associated closely with, and roomed with Edgar Morgan Jr., 24, of Troy, Ohio, and Don McKirgan, 23, of Mount Gilead, Ohio, who previously were suspended for five years in the Scioto Downs matter.

In other action the USTA appeals committee turned down Morgan's plea that his suspension be lifted, and also denied the appeal of John Barnes of Mount Sterling, Ohio, from a $300 fine for failing to report he had been "approached" on an Aug. 10 race. The association said there was collusion by drivers and others to "put over" Tomari, owned and driven by Dr. Davis, in that race.

The Ohio Racing Commission has denied 1964 licenses to 15 racing figures as a result of the Scioto Downs investigation. The total includes all nine penalized by the USTA along with several grooms who do not need USTA licenses.

Youngster Struck At Intersection

A young pedestrian was slightly injured when struck by a car at 3 p. m. yesterday at Pickaway and High Sts.

Taken to Berger Hospital was Danny Bobbitt, 6, of 432 N. Court St. He was treated for abrasions to the left ankle.

The auto was driven by Dever Jolly, 19, Route 3. He told Patrolman Richard Anderson the youngster ran in front of his car as the vehicle started to move through a green light at the intersection.

Route 2 Resident Bound to Grand Jury

William Giffen, Route 2, charged with non-support by Janet Giffen of 328 Walnut St., was bound to the next session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

Giffen entered a plea of not guilty. Bond was set at $500.

Five Teacher Resignations Accepted by School Board

Five teacher resignations were accepted by the Circleville Board of Education last night which included two long-time teachers who are resigning to enter retirement.

Retiring are Miss Elma Rains, 214 1/2 E. Main St., and Mrs. Helen Cress, 153 Montclair Ave. Miss Rains has taught Latin at CHS for a number of years and Mrs. Cress has been on the elementary faculty.

Other teachers resigning their posts for various reasons were Mrs. Margaret Stevenson, eighth grade English teacher; William Mosure, CHS mathematics and freshman coach; Mrs. Carol Brown, first grade teacher at Franklin Elementary.

109 College Pupils Await Judge's View

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Herman J. Weber today took under advisement a defense motion to dismiss contempt of court charges against 109 college students arrested last month during a racial demonstration in nearby Yellow Springs.

The case grew out of a near riot in the March 14 demonstration by students from Antioch College in Yellow Springs and nearby Central State College and Wilberforce University. They were protesting barber Lewis Gagner's refusal to cut the hair of Negroes.

Demonstrators were charged with violating a court injunction barring mass demonstrations in the vicinity of Gagner's shop.

Victor Rabinowitz of New Rochelle, N.Y., attorney for the defendants, argued that those arrested were not parties in the proceedings when the court issued the injunction against mass demonstrations; that there was no genuine issue between the plaintiff, Gagner, and those who were arrested; that Ohio statutes require charges in contempt proceedings to be filed in writing, and that the injunction was invalid in that it seeks to protect the plaintiff in his acts of segregation.

School Board Plans Enumeration

Mrs. Mary M. Yates, attendance officer for Circleville schools, was named chief enumerator during last night's regular meeting of the Circleville School Board.

Mrs. Yates was authorized to employ six persons to assist her in the annual enumeration of school age children. The board agreed to pay enumerators five cents per name taken in the report.

The enumeration will get under way beginning May 4. Persons interested in the positions are requested to contact Mrs. Yates at GR 4-4340.

Those accepted for the jobs will be required to secure information on all children of the school district between 5 and 18 years of age.

Deputy Sheriff Admitted to Berger

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Warren G. Straley, Williamsport, was admitted to Berger Hospital at 11 a. m. yesterday as a medical patient.

His condition was reported as "fair" at noon today by hospital officials.

Several new text books were adopted by the school board for next term. They are English literature texts for juniors and seniors, English grammar text for freshmen, chemistry and physics texts.

MEMBERSHIP in the IMPATI education television for next term was approved by the board for schools presently equipped and using the service. An affirmative nod was also granted for the purchase of 74 classroom desks to accommodate increased enrollments.

A policy regarding jury duty of board employees was officially adopted. The policy states that a board employee will be encouraged to serve on a jury unless a hardship is encountered, or if a hardship is encountered, the employee may request the superintendent to ask proper authorities for a release from jury duty.

The school board reviewed material and available information concerning a Distributive Education program at Circleville High School. Following this study Superintendent Jacobs was authorized to apply through the State Department for the DE program, providing student interest still exists.

A survey conducted here by Clovis Weatherford, representative of the State Department of Education, indicated that 34 Circleville and Pickaway County business and industry firms were "positively" in favor of the program, while five firms indicated a favorable interest.

Plans were discussed for a new report card system that will be utilized in the high school next year. A committee, headed by Paul Sarchet, submitted tentative recommendations for a new report system. The board favored the suggestion and indicated it would be adopted for the 1964-65 school year.

Stock Prices Are Irregular

NEW YORK (AP)—Cigarette stocks were strong and airlines were weak in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks ran from fractions to about a point.

A feature of trading was a sharp decline by most of the oils in the Getty group following news of a Justice Department antitrust suit against Humble Oil's proposed purchase of Tidewater Oil's western operating properties.

The cigarette stocks put on a show of strength on news that two major producers had told shareholders of a recovery in sales of cigarettes following the slump early this year on the surgeon general's health report.

Motors had a thinly higher edge. Rails, utilities, steels and chemicals were mixed. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 305.0 with industrials up .7, rails unchanged and utilities up .1.

South Bloomfield Youths Injured

Two South Bloomfield youths, riding double on a single bicycle, were hit by a car yesterday afternoon on Route 316 just east of Route 23.

Admitted to Lockbourne Airforce Base Hospital for treatment was Fred E. Riggs, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Riggs Jr. Gene Dyke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dyke, was treated and released.

Wanda Jane Hennick, 40, Ashville, driver of the car that struck the youths, told Deputy Sheriff William Pontious she could not avoid striking the bike riders.

Pontious noted there was a high wind blowing at the time of the accident, indicating a gust may have blown the bike riders into the path of the vehicle. No charges were filed.

GARAGE DESTROYED — Circleville Firemen battled a garage fire at Lowery Lane at noon today. A garage owned by William Lowery was destroyed. Firemen said the blaze resulted when persons living there attempted to burn the inside of a junked car parked near the building. Flames spread to the structure. Firemen moved at a quick pace to keep the blaze from igniting other buildings.

Runaway Gas Well Erupts with Roar

CALUMET, Okla. (AP) — A runaway well that erupted with a roar Monday was still out of control today and spewing some two million cubic feet of gas into the air each 24 hours.

Because of the natural gas that filled the air, creating the danger of fire and explosion, 26 rural residents were evacuated from their homes in the vicinity.

Workmen still were preparing drilling mud to pump into the well to block the flow of gas. The next step would be to place a heavy safety valve on the well opening.

Spectators were kept out of the area, about 40 miles west of Oklahoma City.

Judy, North Bergen, N. J.; Mrs. Royce Karshner, Lewis-town, O.; 13 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren.

Members of the family would appreciate memorial donations to Berger Hospital.

Registration Opens For Kindergarten

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of Circleville Schools, said today that kindergarten registration is still open at his office. Children eligible for kindergarten next year (five years of age before Sept. 1) who did not register at neighborhood schools last week should be registered as soon as possible.

Parents may register their children from 8 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and 1:30 to 5 p. m. daily at Jacobs' office in the high school building.

Court Traffic Docket Lists Six Motorists

Six motorists, all charged with exceeding the speed limit, were listed today on the Circleville Municipal Court traffic docket. They were:

Rausel Chatfield, 23, McArthur; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Wallace R. Blankenship, Chicago, Ill.; $15 and costs for speeding 75 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

gates, and I must concede right now it is a Goldwater delegation," Percy stated.

The result of the preference primary is not binding on delegates.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, running against two opponents in the 1956 primary, compiled 95 per cent of the preference vote. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, competing against two entrants on the ballot and three write-in opponents gathered 74 per cent in 1952.

Separate small groups sought write-ins for President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for vice president.

Returns from 1,834 precincts gave Johnson 22,237 and Kennedy 363, and Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama 116.

The Democrats had no major contests—a factor in the relatively light turnout of voters.

Case History of Murder

Murder in Kew Gardens has become a case study for sociologists and psychiatrists throughout the United States. This is no mere theoretical study — a murder actually took place several weeks ago in the Queens section of New York City which made dramatic and unpleasant history.

Thirty-seven residents of Kew Gardens witnessed the murder of a neighbor woman by a man who attacked his victim with a knife three separate times within a 35-minute period. A thirty-eighth witness called the police after the victim had died.

Murder is certainly no stranger to New York, nor is public apathy to law enforcement. Both, in fact, have become the trademark of virtually every major metropolis. But never before has it been recorded that so many persons witnessed the wanton killing of a fellow human being and did nothing.

Psychiatrists and other experts in human behavior have attempted to find a reason for the episode, but even they seem at a loss to explain the full meaning. A New York State University sociologist said the tragedy "goes to the heart of whether this is a community or a jungle."

A New York Mental Health Clinic psychiatrist, Dr. George Serban, has suggested the behavior of the witnesses was "typical" of middle-class families in cities like New York. "It's the air of all New York, the air of injustice, the feeling that you might get hurt if you act and that whatever you do you will be the one to suffer," is Dr. Serban's explanation of the apathy he sees wherever large groups of people live together.

His view seems to be borne out by the "I didn't want to get involved" reply given by most of the 37 witnesses to murder when asked why they didn't at least call the police. All those who heard the victim's screams were safe in their own apartments.

Awarded Doctorate at 18

Norbert Wiener, the man many regard as responsible for automation, is dead. He showed early signs of becoming the mental giant he turned out to be. At 14, he graduated with a bachelor of arts in mathematics from Tufts College, and at 17 he was awarded a master's degree from Harvard.

It is doubtful that any prodigy on record has bettered Wiener's teenage intellectual accomplishments. At 18 he was awarded a doctorate of philosophy at Harvard, a degree most brilliant students don't manage to get until they are in their middle or late twenties.

Nowadays it is difficult for a child prodigy to achieve what Norbert Wiener was able to by the time he reached 18, an age when most college students are still freshmen. Most colleges and universities will not allow 11-year-olds to enroll (Wiener was 11 when he entered Tufts). Many consider 16 the minimum age for entrance.

There are exceptions, but with universities getting larger and larger every year, the exceptional student, the child prodigy, must wait his turn. It is hard enough for many of the 18-year-olds to squeeze in. And besides, a prodigy might give the professors trouble.

Most of Us Are Superstitious

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Sidewalk comments of a Pavement Plato: Do you knock on wood three times to avoid bad luck?

Do you carry a silver dollar or some other object in your pocket to bring good luck?

If your answer in both cases is no, then you aren't a believer in the two most common American superstitions. But that by no means is proof you aren't superstitious.

Many people go through life without becoming religious, at least to the extent of adhering to a formal creed, but hardly any of us escape becoming devotees, consciously or unconsciously, of some of the thousands of superstitions that exist in the world.

Since the universe is large and man is small, he has sought since the dawn of his time to find some way of being less uneasy and feeling more comfortable and secure in that universe. Superstition was his first answer—the taking of some step that would either get the dark forces of destiny of his side, or at least keep their anger from destroying him.

"If you can't be for me, please don't be against me," cried ancient man—and knocked three times on a tree to placate the spirits he felt dwelt therein.

Today we still knock on wood three times at moments of possible peril, and we do it mockingly as if we were joking. But the main thing is—we still do it. Childhood chants are full of superstition. Can't you recall skipping along the pavement as a youngster and saying "Step on a crack, and break your grandmother's back"? And when you did step on a crack, weren't you half afraid that you have brought bodily disaster to that dear old lady?

As we grow older many of us make up fresh superstitions of our own out of the rituals of living we acquire along the way.

I know of one man who is sure everything will go wrong the rest of the day if he nicks his face while shaving. I know another who has similar premonitions of bad luck if he turns off the alarm clock with his left rather than his right hand.

Man may someday take the superstition out of science; science will probably never quite take the superstition out of man.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Busy steel mills have played a big part in boosting today's economy to record levels. But some are now warning that the industry might be in for an early summer.

Output normally dips from June to September for a number of reasons, such as vacations that close more customer plants each year. But this time there are some added ones that might advance the timetable.

There are rumors that the auto makers are planning an earlier changeover to new models. That would mean closing down auto plants for a while and changing the schedule for delivery of steel. Demand for steel would then slacken a bit earlier than usual since less would be needed for this year's models.

Still more uncertain a prospect is how upcoming labor negotiations with the autoworkers union might affect dealers' buying of this year's models. There is some talk of a possible buildup in stocks as a hedge against the chance of a strike.

An auto strike in itself would affect the steel industry quickly and drastically, since Detroit is a major customer.

Steel salesmen also are increasingly up against new thinking by customers on inventories. Most users now are playing cautious and keeping stocks to minimum. They know that steel shortages are most unlikely. They can wait to see how their own prospects look in the fall without putting in orders in late spring or early summer.

This is assumed that most orders the mills are now getting, and that are keeping them going at highly prosperous pace, are for use by the customers in the spring months.

And inventory thinking also is based on knowledge that if steel somehow should get hard to come by quickly, various substitutes are available for a large number of end uses.

Not in the Smokies

IRVINE, Ky. (AP) — Estill County authorities closed a section of a rural road near Rice Station because it was smoking. Officials said black shale or slate had been used to construct a fill beneath a 100-foot stretch of the road and somehow it became ignited and gave off noxious fumes.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MARK TWAIN was something of a practical joker. A seedy old acquaintance met him at the Hartford railroad station one morning and begged, "Help me once more. Treat me to a ticket to New York."

"I'm pretty low on funds myself right now," answered Twain, "but I'll tell you what I'll do. You stow away under my seat and I'll hide you with my legs."

The acquaintance agreed. When the train pulled in, he scrambled under Twain's seat. When the conductor came round, Twain presented two tickets. "The second one," he explained loudly, "is for my friend cramped up under my seat here. He's a bit on the eccentric side—and this is the way he likes to ride."

Complaint from Newshawk Bill Gold: "I've met a few people in my life who were honestly enthusiastic about back-breaking hard work—and it's just my luck that I happened to be working for all of them at the time."

Filbert, the flea, was whooping it up in the Silver Dollar Saloon. He finally became so raucous that the bartender ordered him to depart. Filbert pulled himself together, ran through the swinging doors and leaping high in the air, fell on the sidewalk in a heap. The contrite bartender helped him to his feet, asking, "Did you hurt yourself?" Filbert answered, "Not too much—but I'd like to get even with the varmint that moved my dog!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have a relative who is in desperate need of psychiatric help. We do not have the money to go to a private psychiatrist. There are a few clinics in Boston, but the waiting list is six months long. We need help now. What can we do?

G. W. Massachusetts Dear Mr. W.: You are to be commended for your decision to seek immediate psychiatric care for your relative.

Too often patients and their families delay seeking guidance because they feel that emotional disturbances are "a family shame" and should be kept hidden as long as possible.

People who normally would not delay seeing a doctor for bronchitis, say, avoid a similar consultation for a psychological disturbance.

The need for psychiatric care has expanded in the past two decades with such rapidity that all clinic facilities are overwhelmed. Waiting lists are long because psychiatric specialists are ardently trained over a period of years and there are too few to meet the demands.

Just as there are physical emergencies in medicine, so are there psychiatric emergencies. Your own family physician or spiritual advisor can obtain for you an early consultation if the psychiatric emergency is truly acute.

Your own doctor, who knows you and your family best, can give the patient sufficient psychological support until the consultation is obtained.

All communities in America, through their social agencies and public health officials, assure patients and their families, no medical emergency need be neglected because of the strained finances of the family.

I have been told that I have seborrheic dermatitis of the scalp. I have had this trouble for a long time. It does not seem to be improving with ointments. The itching and the scaling bother me greatly. What causes this condition? Is it contagious? Are there any new treatments for it?

Mrs. D. G., California Dear Mrs. G.: Seborrheic dermatitis is a skin condition which, as you described, is characterized by itching, scaling and redness of the skin and the scalp. The exact cause is unknown.

Since it occurs so frequently in people with oily skin, it is thought to be related to poorly functioning sebaceous glands.

It is often seen behind the ears and in the outer ear canal. The condition is not thought to be contagious.

Allergies are sometimes suspected as an underlying cause. The offending substance is frequently difficult to isolate definitely.

Scrupulous hygiene is important as a basis for treatment. Modern day medical care includes the cortisone preparations in addition to the remedies that have been popular for so many years.

Individual cases respond to different types of treatment. The prolonged use of any one medication must be under the direction of a physician.

Prices Won't Stay Fixed

By John Chamberlain

How, if you wanted to conspire to fix a price, would you go about doing it in a way to make it stick?

The subject has always tantalized me ever since I, a literary man fresh from doing a book column, was pitched in the mid-nineteen thirties into my first corporation story for a business magazine. In that New Deal period I nourished in my head a lot of fol de rol about "administered" prices, so when a man at the headquarters of a big refrigerator manufacturing company in Detroit told me that his organization ran a "clean" business — meaning that it had an understanding with its rivals to maintain a given price structure — I thought, "Aha, it's all true; the big boys do get around the Serman Anti-Trust Act." Picture my bewilderment, then, when I learned from another official stationed at a manufacturing branch of the company that the posted prices of the industry were for the birds.

"Oh, yes," I remember him saying, "we shade the price whenever we have to in order to make a sale."

The foregoing experience may or may not have any relevance to the recent Federal grand jury indictment of eight steel companies on allegations that they conspired to fix the price of carbon steel. But it does have relevance to the chatter that has been revived in the wake of the indictment that the price structure in steel is somehow, whether legally or illegally, kept above the natural market price. This is a myth, a fiction, that is belied by the steel companies' actual behavior all through the period of declining orders that ended only recently. At the very time when Roger Blough of U. S. Steel was tangling with President Kennedy over the attempt to make a price rise stick in 1962, the head of the Allegheny Ludlum Company, big stainless steel producer, was writing to his stockholders that his customers simply would not pay more for steel, and that Allegheny Ludlum would therefore be no party to any attempted price increases.

True enough, stainless steels and carbon steels are two separate things, but the Allegheny Ludlum judgment at the time was that the market would not have sustained Roger Blough's hopes for increased carbon price.

even if President Kennedy had kept his mouth shut.

What the Department of Justice boys who think that big business consistently overcharges everybody fail to recognize is that selling goes by the "book" only when demand is great. When dollars are plentiful, and goods are relatively scarce, anybody can make an "administered" — i.e., a stated — price stick.

No secret meetings in hotel rooms are necessary to collect a certain sum for a ton of steel if two or more parties are bidding for the same ton. On the other hand, if there is only one potential buyer for a ton, and two or more companies are after the order, "inducements" will come into play. The "book" price might even remain the same wherever prices are posted, but it would be a meaningless figure. This truth will pertain whether there has been a "conspiracy" to fix prices or not.

When the news broke last week that the grand jury had moved against the steel companies, some alleged authorities argued that the inflation of the late nineteen fifties might be explained by a price "conspiracy" dating back to 1955. Well, average steel prices rose from $122.74 a ton in 1955 to $149.96 a ton for the years 1959-61. Employment costs for the same period rose from an hourly wage in 1955 of $2.72 to $3.80 in 1959 and $3.99 in 1961. The price rise was a function of increasing labor costs, but even so it would not have been able to sustain itself if the money supply had not been inflated from year to year to validate it.

Even assuming there was a "conspiracy" to fix prices in 1955, it would not have changed the actual subsequent behavior of the market. This is not said to justify conspiracies. It is only to say that they don't work if and when they are tried. The market has its way in the end. Andy Carnegie, who knew business, said that a long time ago.

Meanwhile, the grand jury indictment of the steel companies puts a crimp in President Lyndon Johnson's appeal for business support. The chief victim of the whole business may be the Democratic Party.

U.S. Superiority Wanes -- LeMay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay says he believes the Soviet Union has narrowed the gap of U.S. military superiority and the United States should develop a 100-megaton nuclear bomb.

Stepping indirectly into the missile reliability battle between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the Air Force chief of staff says he "would probably not give as optimistic a picture" of U.S. missiles as McNamara would.

As LeMay's views to a congressional group last February were made public today, statements by McNamara and Goldwater added new fuel to their dispute.

In a position paper on "Defense Strategy for the Space Age" put out by the Goldwater for President Committee, the Arizona Republican argued "we cannot put sole reliance on missile systems." He charged that "not a single new weapons system has been inaugurated since 1961."

LeMay, a strong backer of manned bombers, said in his Feb. 25 testimony to the House Armed Services Appropriations subcommittee that complete reliance on missile weaponry in the future would put the United States "in a musclebound position. You are endangering the defense of the country by depending on this weapons system alone because you have no flexibility."

His testimony was almost echoed by Goldwater's position paper.

Goldwater, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, had questioned the reliability of U.S. missiles and spoke of a "dependability gap" while campaigning earlier this year in New Hampshire.

In the position paper distributed today, he said he would continue to raise fundamental questions about the reliability of American intercontinental ballistic missiles. But, he added, "this nation cannot survive, in this new era, without mastery of the uses of space and heavy reliance on missiles."

His earlier comments on missiles had drawn a prompt report from McNamara, who looks with pride upon the nation's nuclear and conventional forces. Appropriations subcommittee, he took a new rap at Goldwater, without mentioning his name.

McNamara said: "It is absolutely irresponsible" to tell Americans and Russians that U.S. missiles are not dependable. "This is the way to destroy, this is the way to erode away the deterrent strength of this country, the force that is deterring the Soviets from nuclear attack on this country."

In his testimony, LeMay said he thought U.S. military strength is "definitely superior" to the Soviet Union's now.

"But I do not think it is as superior relatively as it was a few years ago. In other words, the gap is narrowing," LeMay said.

Gen. Marshall To Be Honored

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP)—For George Catlett Marshall success came late.

He was 58, near the end of a military career he occasionally had thought of abandoning, when he was plucked from the rear ranks of the generals and made Army chief of staff on the first day of World War II.

Marshall left his mark — so much so that Winston Churchill called him the architect of victory.

From war he turned to peace and authored the Marshall Plan that won him a Nobel Peace Prize.

Beside the parade ground of Virginia Military Institute, where Marshall first learned the ways of soldiering, three presidents will come next month to dedicate a memorial to him.

It is, in effect, a living memorial. The George C. Marshall Research Foundation is a museum and library where his papers from war and peace will be kept with other historical documents.

Coming to the dedication here May 23 are former President Harry S. Truman—who made Marshall his secretary of state and later secretary of defense—and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower — who himself was lifted from relative obscurity by Marshall—and President Johnson.

Marshall's career began in 1897 when his father sent a letter from Uniontown, Pa., to the VMI superintendent. "I send you my youngest, and my last," wrote his father. "He is bright, full of life, and I believe he will get along well."

With uncanny way of singling out the comers among them, his classmates wrote: "He is not in the roll of common men—Dinks Marshall."

Marshall left the institute in June 1901—six months short of his 21st birthday and too young to be commissioned in the Army. While waiting to come of age Marshall served as commandant of cadets at the Danville Military Academy. He received a commission as a lieutenant in the Army after becoming of age.

Fourteen years after leaving VMI he was still a first lieutenant and wrote that he was considering resigning because of the slow promotions.

By the time World War I came he had reached the rank of captain, then rose quickly to colonel when Gen. John J. Pershing recognized his brilliance as a staff officer.

But it was this brilliance as a staff officer that kept Marshall from the field command he so desperately wanted. Marshall eventually received a temporary brigadier general's star, but after the war he reverted to captain—to begin anew the slow climb to the top ranks.

He got his star back in 1936 and three years later President Roosevelt bypassed 34 senior officers to make Marshall acting chief of staff in July 1939.

On Sept. 1, 1939, the day Hitler invaded Poland, Marshall was promoted to general and made chief of staff. In the closing days of World War II he became a general of the Army with five stars.

Robber Sentenced To Take Paddling

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—George Gray Leslie, 22, a gardener, has been sentenced to life imprisonment plus five strokes of the paddle on a charge of armed robbery.

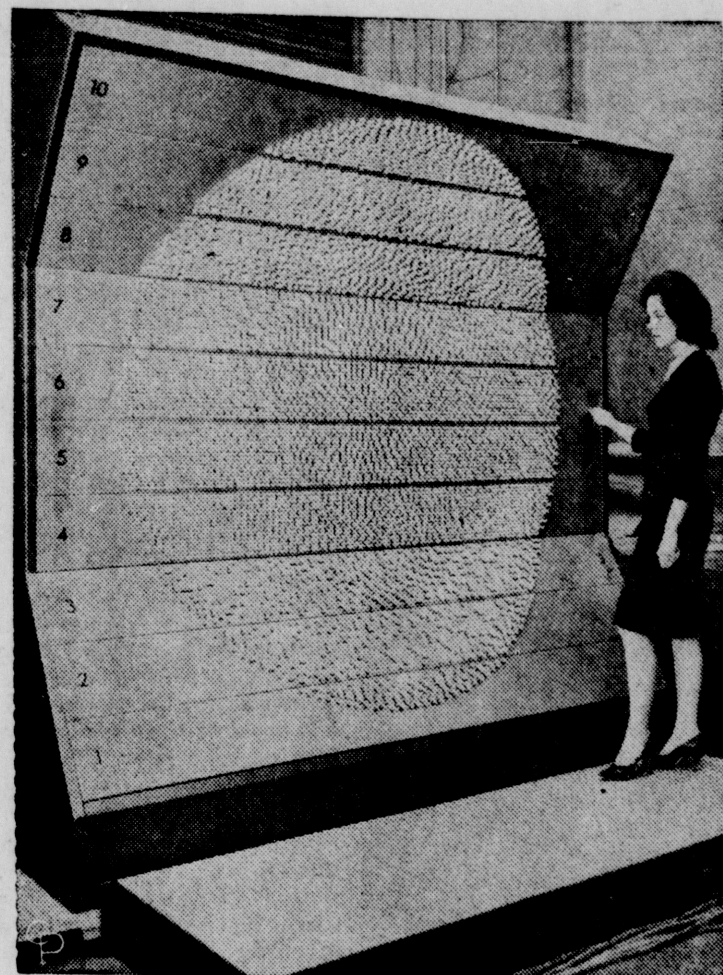

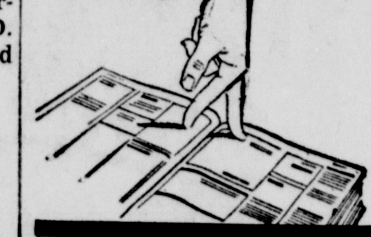

Police said Leslie beat his employer, Dr. Walter Sproule, 72, with a hammer and ax in robbing him of $495 March 28. Dr. Sproule, a dentist, is crippled. He is still in a hospital.

"The nature of this admitted attack on an old and crippled man shows a state of cruelty and lack of pity which is utterly incomprehensible to any ordinary person," Magistrate A.D. Poole told Leslie, who had pleaded guilty.

Its beams can be steered or aimed electronically, making it possible to track many satellites up to altitudes of several thousand miles in one glance.

Poor Farmer, Farm Bureau Are Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 56-year-old Negro farmer from South Carolina, who said he was too poor to buy glasses, read haltingly here a statement describing his rural life and his support for President Johnson's antipoverty bill.

The farmer, Willie Preston Canty of Pinewood, told the House subcommittee on labor that a debt of a mortgage and machinery cost totaled $9,887 and he was ineligible under present law to get a loan from any federal farm agency.

He said the Johnson bill's provision for grants up to $1,500 to poor farmers would put him back on his feet.

A different view of such grants came from Dr. Harry L. Brown, a director of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who was the first witness to testify against the bill.

Brown, who was assistant secretary of agriculture under Henry A. Wallace in the 1930s, said that grants and loans to poor farmers would, "whatever the intention may be, operate to perpetuate subsistence farming and rural slums."

Communists Lose Bundle Misjudging Stock Market

EDITOR'S NOTE — There's irony in the Communist party losing its shirt in Wall Street—but that's what happened. The second of four articles on the fortunes and misfortunes of the Communists in the United States recounts what happened.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Certain that Stalin was inflexible, the Communist party of the United States — CPUSA — took a giddy leap into Wall Street.

It had the wrong market analyst. The Russian bear market failed to materialize. Ex-Communists tell it this way:

Red doctrine decreed that world war would ring the death knell of world capitalism. A Communist economist named Eugene Varga had doubts, however, and wrote that the U.S. postwar depression might be delayed some years.

Furious, Stalin denounced and banished Varga, then reasserted the doctrine: Immediate U.S. depression was inevitable. It was all CPUSA needed.

Happily, the party in 1946 dipped into its considerable working capital and sallied into the market, intent on making money to finance the revolution which would come soon after the inevitable depression. Party financiers sold short.

Result: Disaster. The depression didn't come. The party lost a bundle.

To this day, Communists see nothing funny in the incident, and this reveals one of the party's great drawbacks in America. It could not permit a sense of humor. It could not afford a joke on itself. It could not be other than arrogant in demanding that its members restrict their thinking to the Kremlin's rigid rules.

After suffering heavy membership losses because of the Nazi-Soviet pact signalling World War II, the Communists recouped when Germany attacked the Soviet Union. The party abruptly dropped its anti-war campaign of strikes and sabotage. Overnight, Communists became superpatriots. Party boss Earl Browder forgot his antiwar pronouncements and became prowar.

But in the long run this contributed to the party's decline.

Browder and others were not agile enough after the war. Browder, who had earned a reputation as an executive in the Communist International conspiracy, seemed to believe that the Roosevelt, Churchill, Stalin agreements presaged a postwar era in which Communists could win their aims by nonviolent means. He even conceived the idea of changing the party to the "Communist Political Association," abandoning the conspiratorial structure and becoming outwardly respectable.

Browder was 15 years ahead of his time. What he was in 1945 Soviet Premier Khrushchev became in the 1960s. What the Russians were in 1945, the Red Chinese became in the 1960s.

That is, Browder-like ideas, now espoused by Khrushchev, caused the Soviet-Chinese split. However, for his pains in 1945 Browder was deposed. Moscow chose French Communist leader Jacques Duclos as the executioner, with the notorious "Duclos letter" denouncing the new sin of "Browderism."

The lesson for the CPUSA politburo was that diplomatic accords were only scraps of paper to be discarded at will, and that nothing could slow the grim struggle of the Red world for supremacy.

With Browder's downfall and new contortions of Soviet policy, the party again lost members at a rapid clip. By 1948, the membership was down to about 60,000. Then, reading the "Duclos letter" as the word of Stalin, the U.S. party, again under William Z. Foster's domatic leadership, headed for a new debacle.

To a man, today's ex-Communists agree that the party decision to support the progressive party presidential campaign of Henry A. Wallace spelled disaster.

Interpreting the Duclos letter, Foster ordered trade unions under party control to give all-out support to Wallace, whose movement provided promise of a political organization susceptible to infiltration.

Labor support went to President Harry S. Truman. Wallace emerged with a miserable showing. Communist hopes lay in ruins.

More jolts were coming. The party was deeply involved in sensational spy disclosures. Congressional investigations poured on more heat. A dozen party leaders were convicted for advocating overthrow of the government by force. A new Internal Security Act required the party to register and thus lay bare its financial and leadership secrets.

The party panicked. Its leaders acted as if the CPUSA had been outlawed, and as if the bitter cold war meant hot war was just around the corner.

Several thousand Communists went underground. Many party offices were closed. Top leaders facing five-year prison sentences argued among themselves — another Moscow-like, backstage power struggle — about which of them should go to prison and which should skip bail.

More shocks were coming. Stalin died and his successors battled for control. Communists were asked to believe that Stalin's chief execution, police boss Lavrenty Beria, had in reality been an American spy all along. Then came the biggest shock of all. In 1956, Khrushchev denounced the departed Stalin as a Byzantine monster.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 15, the 106th day of 1964. There are 260 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1865, President Abraham Lincoln died in a boarding house in Washington, across the street from Ford's Theater where John Wilkes Booth shot him the night before.

On this date:

In 1638, English settlers arrived at what now is New Haven, Conn.

In 1850, San Francisco was incorporated as a city.

In 1941, the Royal Navy sank a group of Italian destroyers in the Mediterranean.

In 1944, American bombers were attacking Bucharest and oil fields in Romania.

In 1945, President Franklin D. Roosevelt was buried in the rose garden of his estate at Hyde Park, N.Y.

Ten years ago—Mrs. Margaret Sanger became the first woman to testify before the Japanese parliament, making a plea for birth control in Japan.

Five years ago—Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro arrived in Washington on what was billed as an unofficial good will tour.

One year ago — The White House announced that President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy expected their third child in August.

Morals Dip, Crime Climbs

Top Attorney Outlines Views

CLEVELAND (AP)—The public's acceptance or condoning of many immoral or unlawful acts that never appear in the FBI statistics is an underlying cause of mounting crime in the United States, the president-elect of the American Bar Association said Tuesday.

That view was expressed by Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va., in a prepared speech to the National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters.

Powell said FBI figures show crime rates are rising four times faster than the nation's population growth.

"Perhaps the most fundamental cause is an intangible one—a public attitude toward morality, ethics and individual responsibility which results in disrespect for the law," he said.

Crimes of which the public is "excessively tolerant," Powell said, are juvenile drinking, flagrant traffic law violations, flouting of obscenity and pornography laws, illegal gambling cheating on claims against insurance companies, circumvention of divorce laws, a disregard of antitrust laws and condoning of union violence.

"We must strive to attain solutions on the broadest possible front," Powell said, by:

—Stricter enforcement of laws and improvement in the administration of justice.

—Demanding that the rights of society are not subordinated to the rights of those who prey on society.

—Encouraging, in the home in the schools and at all levels of society a higher sense of individual duty and a genuine respect for law and order.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—In 1950 Secretary of State Dean Acheson talked on the American defense line in the Pacific and got denounced for years afterwards. Republicans made him a punching bag.

It was one of the twists of history — or politics — that Gen. Douglas MacArthur 10 months before drew exactly the same defense line but this time went unmentioned by Acheson's critics and defenders.

Among the critics were Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Even when MacArthur died April 5, what he said in 1949 must have been long-forgotten. This writer found no mention of it.

This was the background. In 1949 the Chinese Communists were smashing Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists on the China mainland. Formosa, an island 100 miles off the coast, belonged to China.

On March 1, 1949, MacArthur — in an interview with an English newspaperman, Ward Price — discussed the American defense perimeter in the Pacific. The interview was published in the New York Times March 3.

MacArthur said the Anglo-Saxon "line of defense runs through the chain of islands fringing the coast of Asia." He listed them, from the Aleutians to the Philippines, through Japan. He left out Formosa.

In December 1949, Chiang and what was left of his army fled to Formosa. But by then the United States had given up on him and on Jan. 5, 1950, President Harry S. Truman called in newsmen to make a statement.

He said the United States would take no action to defend Chiang and his forces on Formosa, that it was a Chinese problem. This was an administration policy decision.

On Jan. 12, 1950, Acheson supported Truman and explained the decision in a talk at the National Press Club. Repeating what MacArthur had said 10 months before, Acheson put the American defense line in the Pacific off the Asian coast and in the string of islands from the Aleutians to the Philippines. He, too, omitted Formosa.

He then went further than MacArthur and sought to answer the natural question raised by his statement: What about protecting other areas in the Pacific and Asia from attack. Acheson said: "It must be clear that no person can guarantee these areas against military attack. But it must be clear that such a guarantee is hardly sensible or necessary within the realm of practical relationships."

If such an attack did occur, he said, "the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the charter of the United Nations which so far has not proved a weak reed to lean on by any people who are determined to protect their independence against outside aggression."

While Acheson didn't commit the United States to the defense of any country attacked in Asia, he didn't say the United States wouldn't try to defend it. He left the door open for an American decision later.

A would-be attacker could construe it either way. But the United States had just gone through an experience with Chiang whose government and forces had frittered away American help.

On June 25, 1950, the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea. Truman acted at once: He sent American forces to the defense of Korea, under MacArthur. The United Nations quickly joined in. And Truman defended Formosa from Red Chinese attack.

Seven days after the attack started McCarthy denounced Acheson for "telling the world" before the war began that the United States would not intervene.

On August 7, Taft said "we invited the attack" because Acheson "announced last winter that we would not defend Korea and Formosa."

And during the 1952 presidential campaign—MacArthur was keynote speaker at the Republican convention which nominated Eisenhower — they also denounced Acheson along the same lines.

DOOR OPEN FOR DRAFT—Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania tells newsmen in Harrisburg that he will not become an active candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, but leaves the door wide open for a draft at the approaching Republican convention.

GOP Urged To Counter LBJ's Moves

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Vivien Kellems says that Republicans should "take up the cause of millions of single women who advocate the rights of equal taxation."

She said this would "counter the brilliant, political move of President Johnson, who has appointed 150 qualified women to high governmental positions."

Miss Kellems, a former business woman from Stonington, Conn., spoke to the Western Reserve Republican Women and Republican Businesswomen's Association. She has fought for 10 years against the community tax law, which benefits married persons but not single women—or men.

She called the tax "a low blow and a dirty trick perpetuated upon a large segment of our taxpayers by a bunch of mealy-mouthed, pusillanimous 'statesmen' whom we had helped elect."

The white-haired Miss Kellems, who delivers her phrases rapid-fire, said her fight is primarily for women but she also included widowers. "These great big, strong men can fight for themselves, although so far they've been too cowardly to stand up for their rights."

Montana's "Corn Pool" spa caters to ailing feet and visitors can sit on wood benches and soak their corns and bunions in the warm waters.

A 12th Century historian pictures a comet as "a twisting serpent, writhing and coiling back on itself . . . lusting for human blood."

CORN COUNTRY IS COON COUNTRY, TOO—These are raccoon pelts, 138 of them, and the 'coons were bagged by two Iowa hunters, J. A. Williams (left) of Marion and Clarence R. Scobee of Cedar Falls. Four months of weekend and holiday hunting brought in the bag, which was sold for $200.

Ohio Refund On Idle Pay Said Unfair

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The federal government is not giving Ohio a fair refund on unemployment taxes, two experts say.

Dr. James C. Yocum, an Ohio State University economist, said that from 1936 to 1963 Ohio got back only 56.8 per cent of the unemployment taxes collected from employers. By comparison, he said, California received 96.6 per cent and New York 86.7 per cent.

Yocum made his accusation in an article in the current issue of the Ohio State Bureau of Business Research "Bulletin."

"Ohio was 48th among the states in the ratio of allocation to taxes collected," Dr. Yocum said. The only states worse off, he added, were Wisconsin (49th), Illinois (50th) and Indiana (51st). The District of Columbia was included in Yocum's figures.

Willard P. Dudley, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, agreed with Yocum's findings.

"This has been a long and bitter problem for Ohio," Dudley said. He said he thinks Washington's method of figuring allocations "needs an overhauling."

Jury Frees Elyria Man

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A Lorain County Common Pleas Court jury Tuesday night found Casper J. Bennett innocent of the death of his wife.

Bennett, 49, a former Lorain tavern owner, was tried for first-degree murder. He was accused of drowning his wife, Florence, 44, in the bathtub at their home last Dec. 20. The jury of 10 men and two women deliberated nine hours in reaching a verdict. Bennett was accused of killing his wife to collect a double-indemnity accidental death insurance policy worth $45,000. Bennett contended that he returned home from a shopping trip and found his wife's body in the tub after hearing the water running in the second-floor bathroom.

Public Hearing on Oil Regulations

Notice of a Public Hearing to be held April 20, 1964, 9:00 a. m., 65 South Front Street, Room No. 2, Columbus, Ohio in regards to the Oil and Gas Regulations drawn up by the State of Ohio and the Division of Mines, which is of interest to each and every small landowner in the State of Ohio. It is his rights and privilege to be present at this meeting or some representative from his community. The regulations, as set forth, are discriminatory, to the small landowner. If he is not heard from during this hearing, the regulations will be passed as they now stand. —Adv.

Ashville News Report

By Mrs. John Sabine

Those who had the pleasure of attending Saturday night's junior-high band musical "Sounds of Spring" in the Teays Valley High School Auditorium set spell-bound for over two hours listening to the many selections, solos and special selections. It was almost unbelievable that the production was being done entirely by 5th, 6th, 7th, and 8th graders from Ashville, Walnut Twp., and Scioto Twp. Elementary Schools.

The scenery and backdrops was most outstanding, especially the Broadway street scene done with black lights. Much credit must be given to William Pangburn, instrumental music instructor, and his assistant, Mrs. Linda Lowry, who spent countless hours making scenery, rehearsing the band and putting the whole show together. Credit also is due Everett Mehrlay and Mrs. Joe Peters, who accompanied students on the piano, and band-booster member and high school students who helped in many ways with the lighting, erecting and building scenery, and other duties that goes with such a production.

This show, attended by over 1100, will long be remembered. The Ashville PTA will meet this Thursday evening in the school auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Election of officers will take place at this meeting for the ensuing year.

The program will consist of music by the Cadet Band and a Mother's Chorus. Those wishing to sing with the chorus are asked to meet Wednesday evening, at 8 p. m. at the Ashville Methodist Church for a rehearsal.

The Ashville Kiwanis reports that a very successful ladies' night was held at the Evangelical United Brethren Church on April 7. The ladies of the church served the dinner to over 55 members and guests.

After dinner the Rev. John Morgan showed his slides to the group on his and Mrs. Morgan's trip to the Holy Land. Due to a time element Rev. Morgan was only able to show a portion of the many slides they took on their three-week tour.

Besides the Morgans and members present for the evening other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hoover, guests of Gerald Riegel, Mr. and Mrs. David Dill, guests of Seibert Duval and Bill Ammer from the Circleville Club.

Division Council Meeting was held April 8 at West Side Club. Those attending were Seibert Duval, Howard Hosler, Bob Vince and Don Forquer. It was announced that the Boys and Girls Committee placed first in District 10W for February. Serving as chairman of this committee is Charles Trone.

This week the Bookmobile will be in front of the Coffee Shop for inspection both before and after the meeting.

The Teays Valley High School Basketball Squad, managers, coaches and cheerleaders will be honored Saturday evening at a carry-in banquet to be held in the school cafeteria at 6:30 p. m. Following the dinner recognition of players and their awards will be made.

The affair is being sponsored by the T.V. Athletic Booster Club who will furnish rolls, butter and beverage for everyone. Each family is asked to bring a well-filled basket, including one meat dish, and their own table service. Table service will be furnished for the honored guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tosca and daughter, Sally, and Miss Pauline Roese spent most of two weeks vacationing in Sarasota, Florida and attending the National Tobacco Distributors Convention in Miami. Miss Roese and Sally returned home by plane Thursday and the Toscas returned home Monday by way of Tennessee where they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pettibone and family.

Gary Tosca stayed with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Quenam Tosca while his family was away.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: April 7 took Frank Clay to Mercy Hospital; April 9 returned Desmer Spangler home from Mercy Hospital; and April 10 took Bessie Kennedy to Mercy Hospital.

The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League met at the Ashville Council House, Thursday, April 9 with Marvin Hicks presiding. Kenneth Roll representing the OK Sporting Goods Co., Dayton, appeared before the group displaying baseball equipment and quoting prices. The league agreed to buy T-shirts with lettering for the Mosquito League Teams.

Hicks appointed a committee to meet with Russell Gregg to set up a schedule for all teams. Babe Ruth teams are tentatively scheduled to play on Tuesday evenings and Saturday afternoons.

The candy sale is scheduled for May 2 and parents are asked to help in this project. Several umpires were present and Hicks asked them to have a meeting to set up a schedule for the nights they wished to umpire.

Next meeting was scheduled for Thursday, April 23 at Ashville Council House starting at 7 p. m.

Luther Cooper, better known to most everyone as "Granddad Cooper" will celebrate his 98th birthday this Sunday.

Those wishing to remember Mr. Cooper with a card may send it to the following address: 2509 E. Livingston Avenue, Columbus.

Mrs. Chester Fortner (Arlene Hartley) left Port Columbus April 3 and arrived the following day at Frankfurt, Germany where she was met by her husband, PFC Chester Fortner, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fortner. The couple will be living in Fulda, Germany. Their address is as follows: U.S. 52573045; D-Trip 1st Recon. Sqd. 14th A. C.; A.P.O. 26; New York, N. Y.

Mrs. Hewitt Cromley, Mrs. John Sabine, Mrs. Art Deal Jr., and Mrs. Thomas Purcell, members of the Ashville Neighborhood Girl Scout Council, will be delegates to the Seal of Ohio Girl Scout Council meeting at 12:45 p. m. April 20, 1964 in the Town Room of the Fashion, Columbus.

The Delegate Council, the Girl Scout administrative body, meets twice a year to determine direction for Scout work with 18,000 girls and 5,700 adults in Delaware, Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin, Madison, Highland, Hocking, Pickaway Ross and Union Counties.

The meeting is the first since the Seal of Ohio Council's chartering session last September when Scouts from the ten mid-Ohio Counties were united.

Dan Rankin, finance consultant for the Girl Scouts of America, assigned to work with the Seal of Ohio Council, will participate in discussions on Council Financing. Girl Scout funds come from United Funds, independent campaigns in counties where there are no United Funds, sustaining membership enrollments, product sales, gifts and bequests.

Sport fans of the community will be treated to a new sport Friday evening on the Teays Valley Athletic Field. The game, never before to be played here, is Lacrosse, a Canadian game resembling football but played with a netted ball.

Teams participating are the Columbus Lacrosse Club and the Ohio State University Team. Several ex - All Americans will be performing with the group, including Jack Strapp, biology instructor at TV. The game will get underway at 7:30 p. m. and their will be no admission charge.

The freshman class at Teays Valley High School will be participating in a field trip this Friday when they will visit the newly dedicated New Science Center in Columbus. The trip

TV-Movie 'Marriage' Now Official

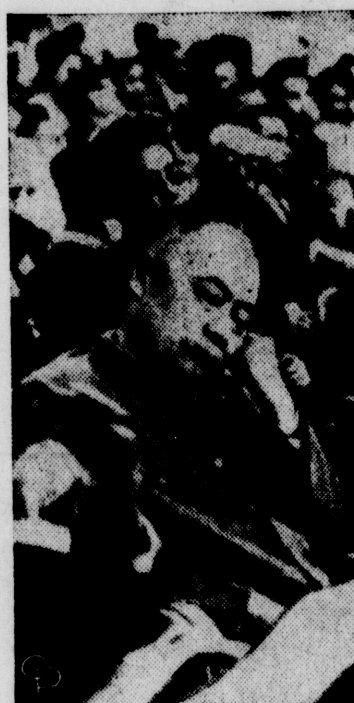

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A bit of history passed with scant notice earlier this month.

The Association of Motion Picture Producers and the Alliance of Television Film Producers announced they were combining to form a new organization called the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers.

The wedding could have come about only through the change of personnel and circumstances. The Louis B. Mayers and other film pioneers would not have countenanced it. They had carved empires by playing to masses in theaters; they could not understand giving entertainment away.

They thought if they ignored television it might go away. Their stars weren't permitted to appear on it. Television sets weren't even allowed in living room scenes.

But as television zoomed and movies declined, changes had to be made. First Columbia broke the ranks to make films for television, then Walt Disney. All of the others eventually joined in. But they were too late to effect a monopoly.

"ANESTHETIZED" — Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen-Yi sleeps peacefully in Jakarta while Indonesian President Achmed Sukarno delivers one of his speeches. There's an Afro-Asian Conference going on there.

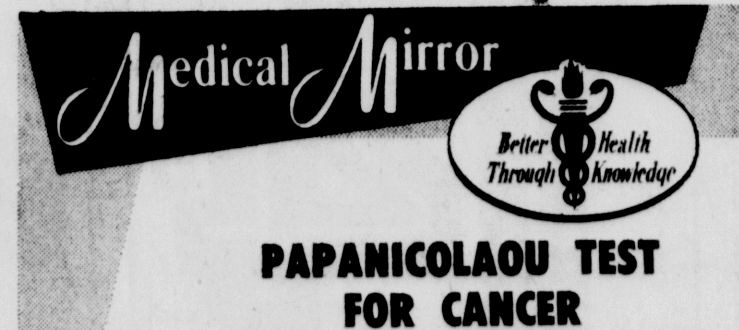

will be made by bus.

Ashville Girl Scout Troop No. 238 met at the Ashville Methodist Church after school on March 31. The girls discussed cooking terms and decided to make note books on everything they had learned in cooking.

They also are to write a history of their most liked food or spice and bring to the next meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Peters and children of Marion were Sunday visitors of his mother, Mrs. Chrissie Peters and aunt, Mrs. Clara Sark. They also visited with other relatives and friends in the community.

The Ashville Neighborhood Council for Girl Scouts will meet Monday at 7:30 at the Methodist Church. Mrs. John Sabine is chairman.

Q. Would you please discuss the Pap, or smear test for cancer?

A. In its earliest stage of development, cancer of the cervix (neck of the womb) seems to be confined to surface tissue for some time (months, perhaps, but not years) before it penetrates into deeper structures. The best chance for cure is during the early, surface stage. Several tests can be used to detect trouble early, one of which is the Papanicolaou or smear test. This test is based upon the fact that cancer cells are more loosely attached to one another than normal cells. They thus tend to shed more easily and, in cervical cancer, the abnormal cells tend to collect in the vagina. Cells are obtained by swab, spread or smeared on a glass slide, and studied under a microscope. The Pap test has the advantage, so far as the patient is concerned, of being quite painless and simple. If suspicious cells are found, other tests are made to confirm or definitely rule out cancer.

HEARING AID USERS

Q. What theatre seats are best for hearing aid users?

A. According to an English doctor, the best seating position is in the middle of the room and as close to the center as possible. If loud speakers are in use, sit in front of and between the first set of speakers.

Dear Abby: Cut Them Off!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have a telephone and our next-door neighbors have none. When they first moved in, they asked if they could use our phone. Thinking it would be only a short while before they had their connected, I said certainly. It has been a year and they are still using ours. There are five of them who use it, including a teen-ager who makes one call after another, some of them lasting 30 or 40 minutes. These people can afford their own phone, Abby, as three in the family work. I've thought of taking the receiver off the hook and saying it is out of order, but I hate to lie. Can you suggest something?

B.S.M.
DEAR B.S.M.: Some people have so much gall they should be divided into three parts. Tell these clods that you have a ONE-PARTY line — and you are the party!

DEAR ABBY: What does it mean when your steady boy friend tells you that he thinks it would be best if you dated other boys, and he thinks he should date other girls? We didn't have a fight or anything like that, and I thought we were perfect for each other. We have gone steady for five months, one week and four days. Should I break up with him for good? He is 17 and so am I.

CRYING MY EYES OUT

DEAR CRYING: Dry your tears and date others, honey. I think he has already "broken up" with you.

DEAR ABBY: Regrettably, the public doesn't know the difference between wild pigeons which fly around uncontrolled, making a mess, and the domesticated variety, which is kept under sanitary conditions and is not a nuisance to neighbors. Domestic pigeons do not carry diseases! During World War One and Two, carrier (or racing) pigeons saved thousands of lives, as they have in other disasters. Abby, if there is reincarnation, I am returning as a pigeon, and all those uniformed pigeon haters who condemn all pigeons had better watch out. You may print this, together with my signature.

MARION, IND

DEAR ABBY: You would be doing a tremendous service if you would print in your column the answer to a question that has been the source of many harsh words in this household? What does "PERSONAL" mean on the envelope of a letter?

"D" IN TOPEKA

DEAR "D": It is a reminder that the letter is just that — "personal"—and not community property, as mail is regarded in some households.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

PROCLAMATIONS: President Johnson has proclaimed May 1 as "Loyalty Day" and urged all citizens to join in reaffirming their loyalty to the United States.

In another proclamation Tuesday, he set Sept. 17 as "Citizenship Day" and the following week as "Constitution Week."

GROWTH: The Census Bureau reports that the Washington area was the nation's fastest growing metropolitan area during the early 1960s.

Figures released on Tuesday showed an 8 per cent increase in the population of the area, which includes the District of Columbia and suburban Maryland and Virginia counties.

Two California areas placed second and third—Los Angeles-Long Beach, with a growth of 5.2 per cent; and San Francisco-Oakland, 4.4 per cent.

Ohio Fuel Gas Rate Reduction Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Commission has accepted a wholesale natural gas rate reduction by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., Columbus, of about $652,225 annually. The reduction will affect Ohio Fuel's 32 utility customers in the Buckeye State.

Ohio Fuel was one of four interstate pipeline companies to receive commission acceptance Tuesday of rate reductions totaling more than $2 million. Each reduction is designed to reflect lowering of the federal corporate income tax from 52 to 50 per cent, the commission said.

Blue Cross Rate Boost Seen for Older Persons

CLEVELAND (AP)—The trend is for Blue Cross to go further into higher insurance rates for older and sicker persons who are greater risks, predicts a New York college professor.

Jerome Pollock, professor of administrative medicine at Columbia University, also forecast Tuesday that the cost of daily hospital care in the near future will rise to $50 or perhaps $60 from $35.

"I think we are approaching a crisis of affluence, not poverty," Pollock told delegates to the Ohio Hospital Association's annual convention. "We will need additional sources of financing and an adequate examination of the problem of care for the whole population of the country."

The hospital's mandate, Pollock continued, is to the public "even though the public be hostile."

The movement toward or away from higher rates for older or sicker persons "is a matter of whether the community at large is to be served," he said. Such a movement, he said,

"is going to result in serious pressures. If blue cross goes all the way into this area, he said, 'there will be questions asking whether it is entitled to preferential treatment tax-wise and otherwise. . . .'"

"There is an element of fear—it has been called terror—among the poor that they will not be admitted. It is reflected in their reaction when they see rates go up."

Pollock, also a director of the New York Labor Management Council, said increasing cost "is not a matter of griping over rates."

Noting that hospital care costs increased 152 per cent between 1948 and 1962, he said the figures show "hospital costs are increasing more rapidly than the best available measure of the ability of people to pay."

Award of Honor Presented To Du Pont by Safety Council

WILMINGTON, DEL. The award of Honor, highest prize of the National Safety Council, was presented to the Du Pont Company at the annual meeting of stockholders here this week. The presentation was made by Howard Pyle, president of the council and former Governor of Arizona, who hailed Du Pont's achievement in safety over the years as "a record unequalled by any other industrial organization."

This award was for the new, low record the company set last year, but the special occasion marked the 20th time it has won this honor. "No other organization has been so honored so many times," Pyle said.

The Circleville plant, with 805 employees, set a perfect record for safety in 1963, operating throughout the year without a single lost-time injury on the job.

The local plant has operated since August of 1960 without an injury, a record which continues today. Over the years, employees have won the Award of Honor (or other award) from the National Safety Council four times.

"With all due respect to the many brilliant breakthroughs that have been made possible by Du Pont's vast resources and creative genius, nothing you have accomplished is more representative of enlightened management than your success with safety," Pyle told the stockholders. "Engaged as you are in dealing with a wide variety of sophisticated chemicals, explosives, heavy equipment, and other highly hazardous activities, your potential for death or injury in accidents is well above the average."

Maintaining maximum safety in such an operation "demands the very highest order of priority for safety throughout the entire organization," he said. Indicative of the broad scope of the program "is that Du Pont's individual units—your plants, laboratories, and construction projects—have received more than 1,200 safety awards from us, in addition to the 19 Awards of Honor previously earned by the Du Pont Company."

"This is no small achievement. It is, indeed, a record unequalled by any other industrial organization," Pyle said. Describing the award, Pyle said that the requirements for winning it have purposely been set at such a high level "that only about four plants out of 100 among council members meet the high standards of performance, and it is estimated that only about four out of 1,000 of the nation's plants (council members and non-members) meet the standards."

"As owners of this tremendous enterprise, it is to your everlasting credit that you support, without reservation, the determination of Du Pont's way of life, both on and off the job, for every employee," he added.

Lammot du Pont Copeland, president of the company, accepted the bronze plaque in behalf of the employees and stockholders. "I can assure you that we will continue our efforts in every way known to us, for no record, however pleasing, can go unchallenged so long as a single incident can stand as a blemish," Copeland said. "From the very earliest days of our company, safety has been a preoccupation, and today, as always, we are resolved that no consideration, however major, can ever outweigh injuries to men and women, however minor."

Crawford H. Greenwalt, chairman of the Board of Directors, called this "an unusual distinction" which "should give all a warm and enduring satisfaction." The company last year established a new low record of twenty-eight hundredths of an injury per million man-hours worked and went through the year without a single fatality from an injury on the job.

Probe Slated On 'Looting' By Deputies

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—Erie County Sheriff Alton Young has ordered an investigation of reports of alleged looting by deputies or auxiliaries at a recent fire at a Giant Tiger Discount Store warehouse.

Young said Tuesday that he did not believe the charges were true, but said he would make a thorough investigation at the request of County Prosecutor George Steinemann.

The sheriff said a telephone call a businessman from near Bellevue made to the Sandusky Register led to the probe. He said the businessman said a former employee of his store claimed he could get "various merchandise" from the store through a deputy sheriff, who was a relative.

The newspaper reported that the sheriff's office in Huron County questioned the former store employee about the reports. He denied his relative was involved or that he knew anything about a movie projector reportedly taken from the fire, the Register said.

The deputy also denied taking anything, the newspaper said.

Chesapeake Bay Bridge Now Open

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—A roadway that spans Chesapeake Bay 30 feet above the waves—and twice dips to the bay bottom—opened today.

The bridge-tunnel erases the last major water barrier on one of the East Coast's main north-south arteries.

The $200-million, 17.6-mile long bridge-tunnel is the first direct link between Virginia's Eastern Shore and the rest of the state. The bridge-tunnel will eliminate a ferry service that can trace its predecessors to 1607.

Motorists using the Ocean Highway, main route from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., will find the new crossing clips 90 minutes off their travel time.

The project, which required 3½ years to build, was financed by $200 million in revenue toll bonds. It will be operated by the Chesapeake Bay Bridge and Tunnel Commission, a state agency.

The American Society of Civil Engineers has designated the new crossing one of the "seven engineering wonders of the world," selected among 107 projects in 26 countries.

The crossing consists of 12 miles of concrete trestle; two tunnels, each a mile long; two steel bridges; four man-made islands that anchor the tunnels, and 1½ miles of earthfill causeway.

Traffic engineers estimate the new crossing will carry an average of 5,000 vehicles per day during its first year, compared to 2,000 daily using the ferries.

Alliance Fugitive Nabbed in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Antonio Americada, 23-year-old male nurse, will be returned to Alliance, Ohio, to face a manslaughter charge in the slaying of a girl friend, the FBI says. Americada, alias Felix Mercado, was arrested at Fort Lauderdale Monday on a fugitive warrant. He is accused of slaying Matilda Winters Feb. 19.

There are approximately 1-750,000 freight cars, 57,000 passenger cars and coaches, and about 44,000 locomotives in use by American railroads today.

Clevelanders Schedule Civil Rights Parley

CLEVELAND (AP)—About 25 Negro civic and political leaders are scheduled to meet tonight in an effort to find a solution to the school integration dispute here and also to study other areas.

"Something must be done because the situation is so acute," Clayborne George, president of the Cleveland Civil Rights Commission and one of those who arranged the meetings, said Tuesday night.

George said it would be a closed-door session but declined to say where the group would gather or identify those who would attend.

One object of the meeting will be to find a way for greater communications between all sides, a spokesman said. He added that the lack of communication has been the main stumbling block in the past.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher has pledged his support in bringing white and Negro community leaders together. Such a meeting is expected soon.

Faced with a school boycott called for Monday by civil rights groups, Locher Tuesday assailed what he called extremists in Cleveland racial crisis. He called on leaders with Cleveland roots to break away from those urging such measures as boycotts, violence on the picket line and inconveniencing of the public.

Meanwhile, civil rights leaders say they will continue picketing two downtown department stores in an attempt, they say, to involve the city's power structure in the civil rights discussions.

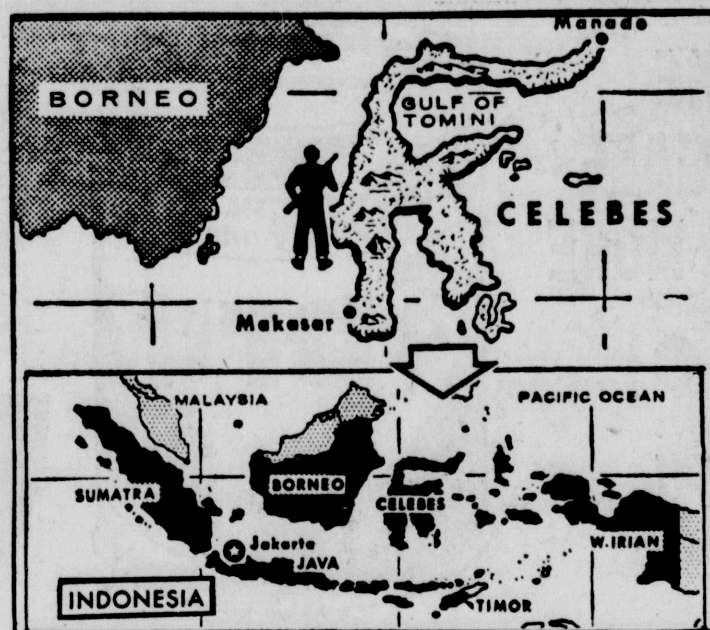

Some 40 demonstrators, both white and Negro, picketed the stores for a short time Tuesday. They distributed leaflets urging that all buying at the stores be stopped. They also charged the break the truce agreement last week, and called for cancellation of subscriptions to that newspaper.

Civil rights leaders contend new grade school construction in predominantly Negro neighborhoods would tend to perpetuate de facto segregation. They want more children in overcrowded Negro schools taken by bus to schools in largely white neighborhoods.

Talented Negro Students Sought

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College said today it has been granted $275,000 by the Rockefeller Foundation to discover and enroll more talented Negro students and others from minority groups.

Oberlin will begin a three-year trial program of financial and educational assistance to qualified students, predominantly Negroes, Oberlin President Robert K. Carr said. The first participants, expected to be recruited from an area between Cleveland and St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Chicago, will enter the college this fall, he added.

NEW TROUBLE RISES UP—Map locates the Celebes, where Indonesia moved troops to combat an uprising led by retired Lt. Col. Andi S. Mattola. Cancer Silences Author Of Controversial Book

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—Death by cancer has silenced Rachel Carson whose book "Silent Spring" created international controversy with its charge that man was poisoning the earth and himself by his efforts to control nature with chemicals.

Miss Carson, 56, a biologist who became a best-selling author in 1951 with "The Sea Around Us," died Tuesday afternoon at her home. She learned five years ago, apparently while working on "Silent Spring," that she had cancer.

Her book helped inspire a White House report last May calling for stronger federal laws on pesticides and new steps to regulate their control.

The book warned of the dangers of tampering with the balance of nature and argued for biological controls rather than massive and indiscriminate use of chemicals, such as pesticides and weed killers.

She wrote: "These sprays, dusts, and aerosols are now applied almost universally to farms, gardens, forests and homes—nonselective chemicals that have the power to kill every insect, the 'good' and the 'bad,' to still the song of birds and the leaping of fish in the streams, to coat the leaves with a deadly film, and to linger on in the soil—all this though the intended target may be only a few weeds or insects. Can anyone believe it is possible to lay down such a barrage of poisons on the surface of the earth without making it unfit for all life?"

Miss Carson's book, which ironically also warned of the hazards of man-made cancer-producing substances, was criticized by some, including pesticide industry chemists, as presenting an incomplete picture. Manufacturers and trade associations defended the safety of pesticides "when used as directed."

After learning of her death, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall heaped praise on Miss Carson in a statement. He said she "was the kind of woman who makes men proud, a scientist of rare courage and ability, and a world-renowned author whose eye was trained to the destiny of generations she would never see."

Court OKs Removal of 2 Candidates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cuyahoga County's Election Board has been upheld by the Ohio Supreme Court in its decision to remove the names of two central committee candidates from the May 5 ballot.

The court ruling Tuesday said in each case there was a failure to comply with mandatory statutory requirements.

The candidates were William R. Van Aken of Shaker Heights for Republican state central committeeman and Everett D. McCurdy of Cleveland Heights for Republican county central committeeman.

In the McCurdy case, the court held without dissent that the circulator signing his petition was not qualified because he was a member of the opposite political party. Van Aken's petition, the court ruled unanimously, did not contain the required signature of his circulator.

The decisions were a setback for Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who contended that election laws revised by the last legislature did not require the signature of circulators on petitions for committee posts.

Streamlined Command Is Set by U.S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The United States is going to streamline the top-heavy administration of its military forces in South Viet Nam, American authorities announced Tuesday.

The U.S. Military Advisory Assistance Group—MAAG—that has operated here since 1955 will be abolished soon, they said, and its personnel will be absorbed by a higher organization established in 1962, the U.S. Military Assistance Command of Viet Nam—MACV.

The new command is headed by Gen. Paul D. Harkins. MAAG which has been responsible primarily for training of Vietnamese servicemen, is headed by Maj. Gen. Charles J. Timmes. American sources said Timmes probably will become Harkins' chief of staff.

A spokesman said the level of 16,000 U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam is expected to increase, in keeping with U.S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's recent statement that more help is needed here.

Lutz Plans To Fight Demotion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rowland R. Lutz has reported, at least temporarily, for his new assignment as the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission's first hearing officer.

But he has made it clear he plans to fight for the job he has held since 1957 — chief of the Bureau of Probation and Parole.

Lutz, who has been at odds frequently with the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes, was re-assigned late last week, although he said he received no word of the change until Monday.

Ray E. Giannetta, supervisor of the Columbus Parole District for the last 1½ years, was named to succeed Lutz. Both reported to the chief's office Monday, but Lutz went to his new assignment after being notified officially of the change.

He conferred later with attorneys John Brown and Rush Warren, who he said he had hired to fight the ouster.

The parole commission eventually will have three hearing officers, who will assist commissioners but not vote on parole decisions. Lutz is the first to be designated.

Defendant Loses Judge as Friend

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Wonderful Rawls told a magistrate he was completely peaceful last weekend when police found on his person a cat- of - nine - tails, a loaded starter pistol with steel slivers in the barrel, a knife and a homemade brass knuckle.

The magistrate said, "Carrying any of these things is against the law. I want you to know that and tell your friends."

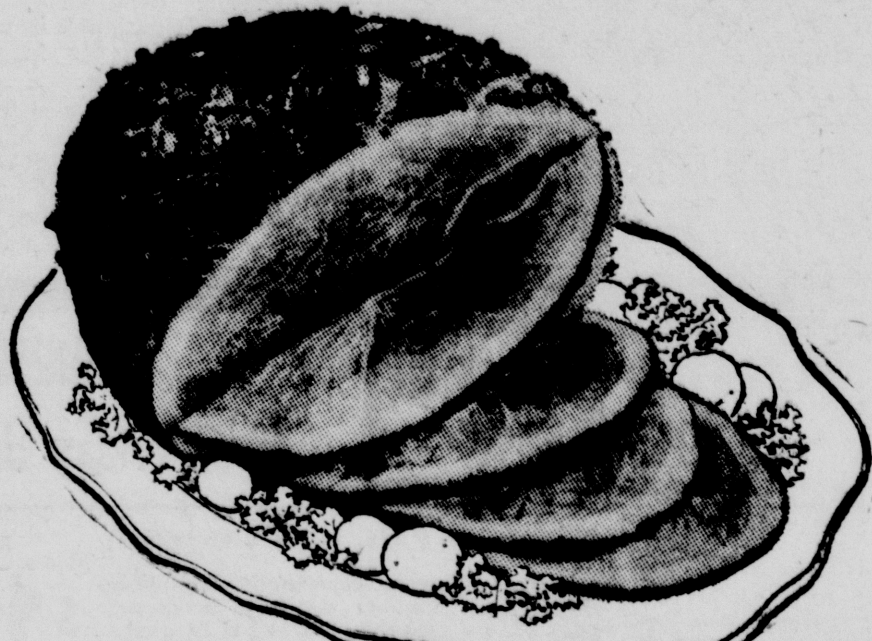

"I don't have any friends," Wonderful said.

"Well," said the magistrate, "you just lost another. I'm fining you $300 and $9 costs."

Gallipolis Is 'Small' But Not Its Medicine

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—A man with one arm cut off just above the wrist is taken to a hospital. A surgeon decides to restore the severed limb.

That might be the beginning of one of the dramatic operations performed recently at some big city hospitals.

It was, in fact, the beginning of such an operation a few months ago at Holzer Hospital in Gallipolis.

Even though the limb failed to "take" and the surgeon eventually had to remove it, the fact that restoration was attempted illustrates the high quality of medical care available in Gallipolis.

Most small towns—particularly those in a low-income region like this rural area of southeastern Ohio—probably would not have a specialist with the necessary training and skill to perform such an operation.

While Gallipolis is small, medicine here is not.

Wayne Foster, administrator at Holzer, puts it this way: "Just because you're in a small town you don't have to be small or think small."

Medicine is the biggest industry in this 174-year-old Ohio River town whose chief claim to fame are that it's the third oldest community in Ohio and was the boyhood home of the late columnist O. O. McIntyre. Gallipolis (it's pronounced Galla-po-lease) and means "City of the Gauls" was settled by the French in 1790. The 1960 census pegged the population at 8,700.

It is 100 miles south of Columbus in a farming area in which per capita income is approximately $1,200. The state per capita income was $2,392 in 1962.

Despite the size of the town and the income of the people of the region, medical care at the 200-bed Holzer Hospital and the Holzer Clinic rivals that available in major cities.

Holzer has the best of equipment and facilities, and a large educational plant that includes a school of nursing and schools for training laboratory technicians and X-ray technicians.

Because of the low incomes in this area, about half the student nurses must have scholarships.

These are provided by doctors, medical societies, industry, and friends of the hospital.

The hospital and clinic has attracted top-notch physicians and personnel. Because of the quality of medical care there has been an influx of patients with good incomes from the tri-state area of Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, which helps maintain such a facility.

The 22 doctors at Holzer—all board-certified specialists—practice as a group. Offices of each doctor are in the hospital-clinic building. A doctor in every specialty is available at all times. Should one of them want help on a case, the others are there for consultation or other assistance.

Gallipolis, which also has a state hospital for epileptics, is reputed to have more physicians per capita than any other city in the United States, with the possible exception of Rochester, Minn., home of the Mayo clinic.

Holzer Hospital was opened in 1910 by the late Dr. Charles Holzer. His wife, director of nurses at Grant Hospital in Columbus at the time of her marriage, started the school of nursing 10 years later.

Their son, Dr. Charles Holzer Jr., Cornell-trained like his father, is chief of staff in the hospital that has been expanded from a 35-bed institution to 200 beds.

The hospital is now operated by Holzer Hospital Foundation, a non-profit foundation whose board members come from a five-county area including Jackson, Gallia, Vinton and Meigs Counties, Ohio, and Mason County, across the river in West Virginia.

That the people of this area believe in Holzer Hospital is evident from the record of giving to building funds. Since 1949, almost all of some $2.5 million spent for new buildings and equipment has come from gifts.

He Shoulda Listened to Nagging Wife

CINCINNATI (AP)—William Robert Hester, 30, has admitted to police he started a life of crime because a holdup man once told him, "you can't make it being honest."

Police said they found nearly $10,000 worth of alleged stolen items hidden in Hester's home.

"My wife has been begging me to stop stealing. She wanted me to throw the stuff in the river. I should have listened to her," officers quoted Hester as saying.

Police said it took a truck to take the items—television sets, radios, tools, suitcases, household items and other things—to headquarters. Hester admitted looting parked automobiles at supermarkets and bowling alleys from Cincinnati to Hamilton over a two-year period.

Police Sgt. Gene Moore said Hester would be charged with receiving stolen goods. He was taken into custody Sunday when officers were called to the home during a quarrel with his wife, Judy, police said.

Postmaster General To Be in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Postmaster General John A. Gronouski will address a banquet Saturday night of the three-day convention of the Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio National League of Postmasters. About 800 postmasters are expected to attend the convention, opening Thursday.

Army Proud Of Air Corps In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The song about "The Army Air Corps" still fits in South Viet Nam.

U. S. Army fliers are drawing bullets from the Viet Cong and snide remarks from the regular Air Force.

A "grass roots air force," Army reconnaissance fighter bombers sweep daily over the flat, green Mekong River delta, photographing and harassing the enemy.

The pilots contend their plane is better than any of the combat planes the U. S. and Vietnamese air force are using in Viet Nam. It is a twin-engine, Grumman Mohawk, or JOV1C.

Some Air Force men argue it's too hot a plane for the Army, and that the Army is hogging in on an Air Force function by using it.

Pilots of the Army's 23rd Special Warfare Aviation detachment who fly the Mohawk say they're not trying to compete with anyone, but are just doing a job. One pilot observed: "We need the Air Force for cover. Our job is in close ground support. We work directly with infantry division commanders in the field. When they need pictures of the enemy, we can supply them in a few hours, and we can get them where they're needed."

The turbine-powered Mohawks carry, besides sophisticated camera equipment, rockets and two 50-caliber machine guns. They could carry bombs and napalm tanks, but none of the half-dozen Mohawks in South Viet Nam are permitted this extra ordnance.

Pilots of the 23rd believe, nevertheless, that they are the only U. S. Army unit flying combat planes in combat anywhere in the world.

The Mohawks are scheduled for integration into a provisional Army aviation battalion, which will include helicopters, light spotting planes, and transport and administration craft. They are part of the Army's support command in Viet Nam, headed by Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Stilwell.

Cleveland East Side Vice Ring Is Broken

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police say the arrest of five men and two 15-year-old girls has broken up a vice ring operating in two large east side residential hotels.

Detectives still are seeking three alleged ringleaders and several prostitutes. The two girls and two east side men, 21 and 24, were arrested Sunday at one of the hotels. Two more men were apprehended Monday and the fifth was picked up Tuesday.

$60,000 FLARE—Robert Deschamps, 5, doesn't seem to realize it, but when he went to his mother in Eastview, Ont., and said, "Mother, mother, come look at the fire I started," the apartment building wound up with $60,000 damage and 12 persons homeless. Robert is one of seven children 5-16 years old in the Deschamps family.

Pentagon Set To Buy More Beef

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrat congressional leaders reportedly breakfast conference with President Johnson that the Defense Department is stepping up its buying of beef for use in bases overseas.

HOT RODDER?—President Johnson is shown at the wheel on his Texas ranch during Easter weekend, when he was reported to have driven a group of reporters at 85 miles an hour, 15 over the speed limit, and to have forced another car off the pavement. Queried about the report, Johnson said, "I am unaware that I have ever driven past 70."

Senate leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the department has decided to buy 14 million pounds of beef in addition to planned purchases already announced.

He said the previous program included 36 million pounds of beef plus 18 million pounds to be bought and placed in storage for future use overseas.

The purchase of domestic beef for overseas bases is a major operation in the government's efforts to bolster sagging prices and to improve this country's position in international trade balances, he said.

In addition to beef buying by the Defense Department, the Agriculture Department is purchasing beef for use in the school lunch program.

Mansfield also told newsmen that Johnson again expressed the hope Congress will keep appropriations within his budget ceiling of just under $98 billion.

SENATOR RE-ENACTS SHOOTING—Maryland's only Negro state senator, Mrs. Verda Welton, re-enacts the shooting in front of her home in Baltimore, in which two of five shots from a sniper's gun grazed her heel and hip. Police sought a suspect, also a Negro.

Koufax Opens 1964 Season With Shutout

Dodger Dandy Allows 6 Hits In 4-0 Victory

SANDY KOUFAX

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When Sandy Koufax was interrupted last fall...

That's right, the Dodgers dandy took Tuesday night where he left off last season, turning in one of his shutout specialties as Los Angeles opened defense of its National League championship by whipping St. Louis 4-0.

There were 50,451 in Dodger Stadium — the largest of the opening day crowds—when Koufax began to whip an assortment of fast balls and curves out of his effortless motion. And when it was over, he had fittingly pitched the first shutout in the National League.

Koufax, a 25-game winner last year with 11 shutouts marked alongside his name, allowed the Cardinals only six hits, struck out five and walked none while winning his eighth consecutive game and recording his 18th victory in the last 20 regular season decisions.

But the 1963 World Series hero had to share some of the spotlight with towering Frank Howard, baseball's reluctant player. The Dodgers' main power-provider, Howard proved it by tagging a 420-foot, two-run homer that capped the victory.

In other NL openers, Willie Mays collected two of San Francisco's five homers in an 8-4 wallop of Milwaukee, Roy Sievers' three-run homer powered Philadelphia to a 5-3 victory over the New York Mets and Billy Williams' two-run homer in the 10th inning led the Chicago Cubs to an 8-4 triumph over Pittsburgh.

Houston and Cincinnati, who opened play Monday, were not scheduled.

In American League action, Minnesota edged Cleveland 7-6, Baltimore defeated the Chicago White Sox 5-3 and Detroit belted Kansas City 7-3. The Boston at New York game was postponed due to rain. Los Angeles and Washington were not scheduled.

The Dodgers scored in the sixth against Ernie Broglio when Willie Davis singled, stole second and scored on Ron Fairly's single. That was enough for Koufax, but Jim Gilliam singled home another run in the seventh and then Howard wrapped it up in the eighth.

Mays hit a two-run homer in the third and finished off Warren Spahn with a solo shot in the eighth that chased the Braves' 42-year left-hander.

Jim Hart, Orlando Cepeda and Tom Haller also homered for the Giants, who broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth on Cepeda's single, a wild pitch and a single by Haller. Juan Marichal, 25-8 last year, was the winner on a seven-hitter.

The Phillies pulled out front in the first as Roy Sievers hammered a homer off Al Jackson following a pair of walks. Bobby Wine's run-producing single in the second and a run-scoring double by rookie Richie Allen in the eighth closed out the scoring.

Tiger Reserves Down Logan Elm

The Circleville High School reserve baseball team defeated the Logan Elm reserves, 17-5, yesterday at Ted Lewis park.

The Tigers cracked 12 hits off a trio of Logan Elm pitchers. Dave Iery went the route for CHS, limiting the visitors to four hits.

Tonight the Circleville varsity meets Hillsboro at Ted Lewis Park as the Tigers open South Central Ohio League play.

Junior High Team Wins Track Meet

The Circleville junior high school track team yesterday won a dual meet with J. A. Smith of Chillicothe 62-47.

Leading the way for the Red and Black was Steve Dade with a first in the 120-yard low hurdles, the 100 yard dash and the broad jump.

Dade's time of 16 seconds in the hurdle event was a new school record.

Wendell Davis was first in the discus and second in the shot. Rod Sines won the pole vault and placed third in the high jump and Bob Walisa tied for first in the high jump.

THE WINNING 880 yard relay team was made up of Walisa, Tom Wright, David Hopkins and Jim Campbell.

Other point getters for the tiny Tigers were Bob Dean, David Horst, Wright, Wickerham, Smith, Dortch, and Diehl.

The next major event for the junior high cindersmen is the Greenfield Relays April 25.

Bum Faithful Moan; Giants Buy Snider

NEW YORK (AP)—The suffering never ends for Brooklyn's orphaned baseball fans.

Old wounds, six years in healing after Walter O'Malley separated the faithful from their Dodgers, have reopened. Duke Snider, the pride of Flatbush, has gone over to the still-hated Giants.

Snider, 37, was acquired by the Giants—San Francisco vintage—from the New York Mets in a straight cash deal Tuesday. The silver-haired slugger may start alongside Willie Mays, another New York folk hero who went West, in the San Francisco outfield tonight when the Giants meet the Milwaukee Braves on the West Coast.

Old-line Dodger fans and "New Breed" Met rooters were dismayed by the second passing of the Duke. But Snider welcomed the move and the Giants, who have been after the veteran for some time, were equally happy.

"You're just what we need to win the (National League) pennant," Horace Stoneham, Giants president, told Snider via telephone after the deal was announced.

"Just the opportunity to play with a contender again should add a couple of years to my career," Snider said before leaving for San Francisco. "I think I can help the Giants. I think I can play quite a few games for them."

"I never rooted for the Giants before—except in a World Series, but I'm sure rooting for them now."

The Los Angeles Dodgers' pitching staff held the opposition to three runs of less in 99 games during the 1963 season.

Vikings Win Triangular Track Meet

Teays Valley won a triangular track meet last night by scoring 75 points while visiting St. Charles tallied 46 and Lancaster Fenwick had 27.

Three record breaking performances were turned in on the Viking track.

Thompson of Teays Valley heaved the shot 43-feet 9-inches to better the mark set there last year by Howard Fletcher of Circleville. John Lothamar of St. Charles blazed to wins in the 100 in 10.4 seconds and the 220 in 22.7 to establish two records.

Teays Valley performers dominated the win column in the meet, taking ten of the 14 events. St. Charles competitors won three of the events while Lancaster Fenwick gained a single first place.

TEAYS VALLEY has won three of the four meets they have competed in this year.

Mike Seymour was again the leading point maker for the Vikings, winning both hurdles, placing second in the broad jump and third in the 100-yard dash.

Tomorrow the Vikings host Fairfield Union and West Jefferson.

High Jump — Willis (TV), Thimmes (LF), Smith (TV), Pennington (TV), 5-feet 7-inches.

Second Cassady On Duty at PCC

PICKAWAY PROS — Larry Cassady, kneeling, assumed his new duties as assistant golf pro at the Pickaway Country Club yesterday. He is instructing Norcen Smith, 508 Plaza Drive, one of his first pupils. Looking on is brother Tom Cassady, PCC pro.

Larry Cassady of Marietta began his duties as assistant golf pro yesterday at the Pickaway Country Club.

Larry is the brother of PCC pro Tom Cassady. He has long had an interest in golf, although this is his initial entry into the professional field.

The Cassady brothers have to be rated among top golfers in the state. Last year Tom was second in the Ohio Open golf tournament at Columbus in the pro division, while Larry finished in a tie for fourth among the amateurs.

Among his many laurels, Larry includes the 1963 individual medalist crown of the Southeastern Ohio Golf Assn.

ONE OF the reasons for Larry moving to Circleville to assist Tom was to allow both more time for professional competition.

Every Monday the pair will probably be entered in a pro-amateur event somewhere in central or southern Ohio, including the pro-amateur scheduled at the Pickaway Country Club June 8.

Although their tour calendar for the season is not complete, Tom reports the first big event will be the U. S. Open qualifier May 25 at Winding Hollow Country Club in Columbus.

They have also received invitations to play in the American Golf Classic at Akron, the Cleveland Open and the Ohio Open.

Along with their tour activities, the Cassady brothers are looking for a busier season at PCC this year.

Tom says the fairways have been at near capacity during the weekends this spring. Many of the weekdays will be taken up with the golfing lessons.

The pro shop at the Pickaway Country Club has recently been remodeled, with an eye toward accommodating this expected increased traffic.

Hutchinson underwent treatment for nearly six weeks at the Institute last winter and when he was released doctors said they were satisfied with his progress. They did not elaborate.

The Reds play the Dodgers in Los Angeles Thursday.

SEATTLE (AP) — Fred Hutchinson, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, left for Los Angeles Tuesday night after undergoing examinations for a cancerous growth at the Swedish Hospital's Tumor Institute.

Examining doctors said they were "very pleased" with the results of the tests and that no further examinations would be required until June.

Local Outdoor Unit Slates Meet Thursday

Fish, Game Hearing Will Be Conducted At Fairgrounds

The Pickaway County Farmer's and Sportsmen's Assn. will meet in the 4-H and Grange Building tomorrow immediately following the annual fish and game hearing there.

The local sportsmen's organization annually provides the meeting place where the hearings are held.

Proposed changes in the fish and game laws are discussed at this hearing. Officials of the division of wildlife and Richard Wolf from, Pickaway County game protector will be present to hear views of area sportsmen.

The fish and game hearing is open to the public, it was emphasized today by Dick Redman, secretary of the Farmer and Sportsmen Assn.

COMING up for discussion during the meeting of the sportsmen are proposals for improvements at Marion State Park and the stocking of wall-eyes in the lake there.

The proposals for improvements at the lake area will be presented to officials of the Division of Parks of the Department of Natural Resources. Personnel in the division have indicated that funds will be made available in 1965 for improvements at Marion State Park.

The Farmer and Sportsmen Assn. is sponsoring a fund drive to purchase walleyes for stocking in the lake. This must be completed by mid-May, according to Redman.

Darby Dumps 1963 Champ Monroe from Tourney, 2-1

Darby won the first game of the Pickaway County baseball tournament yesterday, edging defending county champion Monroe, 2-1 at Darby.

Dannie Bowen, sophomore hurler, pitched a one-hit game. And he played a key role in the Trojans two runs.

In the first inning, Dave Rowland advanced to first base on an error. Gary Liff singled and then Bowen cracked a bingle to drive in Rowland with the first run.

The Trojans went scoreless until the bottom half of the final frame. The Indians were able to score a single run in the fifth.

IN THE last inning, Bowen walked and proceeded to steal second, third and home for the winning run. He was two-for-three at the plate.

In the seven inning tilt, he gave up one hit, fanned 13 batters and walked two. Moore was the losing hurler, giving up five hits, whiffing eight and issuing five walks.

Darby had other opportunities to score, leaving 10 men stranded. However, the winners could not produce the timely hit to drive in a run. In the fifth inning two men remained on base when the side was retired and in the sixth frame, the bases were loaded.

Monroe left two runners stranded. Tomorrow Darby will meet Jackson in a tournament tilt on the Wildcat diamond. Logan Elm plays Williamsport on the Pickaway diamond in the other tournament contest.

Steve Brudzinski, who will be directing the school, outlined plans for the four training sessions to those present.

He told the group that the duties of umpires were easier and far more pleasant when the official had a thorough understanding of the rules and the limits of his authority.

OFFICIALS of the Circleville Youth Baseball program noted last night it has become increasingly difficult to supply the necessary umpires for games during the season.

They feel the training school might be the answer to this problem.

LET'S MAKE YOUR HOME look like a million

New Dean & Barry house paint with Poly-Lin looks smoother, looks glossier, looks better longer! And this means the most beautiful paint job you've ever seen, the most durable paint job your dollars can buy.

Here's why: Poly-Lin is the 100% pure polymerized linseed oil that gives Dean & Barry house paint extra smoothness, extra gloss, extra strength and toughness all the way through. No thinned-out places to prematurely weather and wear. No unsightly brush marks to spoil appearance. Dust and dirt wash off easily from the smooth, higher gloss finish. Paint jobs look better, last much longer to save important dollars for you.

No extra cost — meaning you benefit, too, because you pay nothing extra for the superior beauty and durability the new Poly-Lin blend gives. So why pay more — why take less? See us today, or have your painter-decorator come in.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television keeps getting its lumps from the critics and intellectuals, but more people seem to be watching more television on more sets than ever.

That, at least, is the finding of Nielsen researchers. The company estimates that some 51,300,000 American homes in the United States, not counting Alaska and Hawaii, are television-equipped—92 per cent of all households, and a slight increase over 1962.

Set ownership is heaviest—95 per cent or more homes have them—in the Northeastern United States. It is lightest—87 per cent—in the South.

The Nielsen company estimates that the average television set is in use six hours and a quarter daily during mid-winter months, but skids to four and a quarter hours a day during the summer. These figures incidentally, have changed very little during the past eight years.

From now on, "The Beverly Hillbillies" can call itself "the award-winning series." The country-style program, at once the nation's most popular and most maligned by critics, has been voted the "best comedy series" by the million-member American Legion Auxiliary which gave it a "Golden Mike." The annual membership poll also named "Perry Mason" the best adventure series.

Recommended tonight: "Ben Casey," ABC, 9-10 EST—Lew Ayres, the original Dr. Kildare when it was a movie series, turns up as a businessman patient of TV's glowering neurosurgeon.

Indian Chief Pleased by Team Punch

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians lost the season opener, but their offensive punch had acting manager George Strickland smiling after the game.

"We played a good offensive game," said Strickland after the Indians lost, 7-6, to the Minnesota Twins Tuesday for their fifth straight home-opener defeat. "I sure was happy to see our score those runs. We're going to be all right."

The Tribe's 10-hit attack included home runs by Leon Wagner and Woodie Held.

Wagner, obtained from the Los Angeles Angels in a winter trade, drove in four runs. He had a single and a walk in addition to his fourth inning homer deep into the lower right field stands with two runners on base.

Earl Battey got the only home run for the Twins, who led the American League in homers last season with 225. It was off Jim Grant, who started for the Indians and pitched 4 2-3 innings.

Three pitchers followed Grant, but when asked about his mound staff following the game Strickland said he was not worried about the pitching.

Pro Golfer's Wife Likes Going Along on Long Tour

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—There was one thing about being an airline hostess, says Mrs. Joan Crampton. You didn't have to travel so much.

That was before she married a golfer.

"I used to get home every few days at least, to do up my laundry and things," she says, "but now it's just one motel after another."

Joan, a pretty blonde who was born in Australia and grew up in New Zealand, married handsome, wavy-haired Australian golfer Bruce Crampton last December, in Sydney.

"We met about five years ago," Joan says. "I was out on a date with a passenger, and he introduced me to Bruce."

In those days Joan played golf, too, but Bruce says she doesn't any more, at least not when he's around. "I've never seen her hit a golf shot," he says.

Joan has seen Bruce hit thousands. Crampton is one of the most persistent golfers on the American pro-circuit—he played in 38 consecutive weekly tournaments in 1962 and again in 1963—and Joan walks around the course and watches him on every round he plays in a tournament.

Crampton plans the same busy schedule this year that he followed in the past.

"Bruce says as long as he can win money consistently on the tour, we'll play it," Joan says.

That seems to settle the Cramptons plans for some time.

Redlegs To Play Diego Farm Club

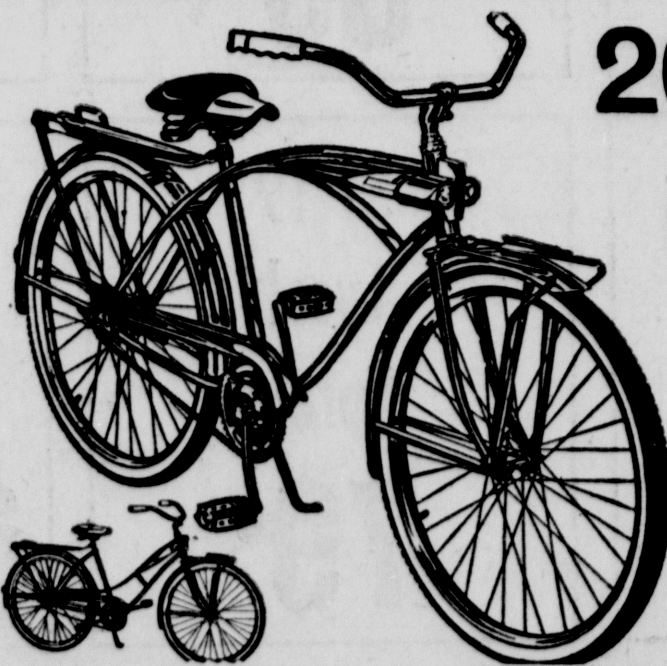

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, on their first road trip, play a warmup game here tonight before going to Los Angeles tomorrow for the first of three games with the Dodgers.

Bob Purkey was slated to go against San Diego, the Reds Pacific Coast League farm club. The big pitcher said he would try to go the distance to prove he has fully recovered from a shoulder ailment that caused him to have a dismal season last year.

"I haven't experienced a bit of pain pitching or throwing batting practice in recent weeks," Purkey said Tuesday. "I hope to prove Wednesday night that I'm ready to help the club this season by taking my regular turn."

News of World in Brief

CINCINNATI (AP) — A fully loaded gasoline tank truck exploded and burst into flames today as it was hit by a semi-trailer truck at street intersection on River Road (U.S. 50). The cab of the semi-trailer also was enveloped in flames and its two occupants were burned critically.

They were listed as Robert L. Brown, 27, of Otisco, Ind., the driver, and Randolph Mosely, 44, of Louisville, Ky.

Donald T. Ward, 40, of Cincinnati, driver of the gasoline truck suffered shock.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A science project workbook for Ohio high school students is being prepared for distribution by the Ohio Research Development Foundation.

James J. Nance, Cleveland bank executive who heads the foundation, said Tuesday the workbook—which will be available without charge to all high school science teachers—will be ready for distribution for the 1964-65 term.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes says the construction of highways is one of the "strongest points for providing new jobs in Ohio."

Speaking at Canton's "Industrial Appreciation Week" dinner Tuesday night, the governor said the present highway construction program and "the additional $500 million" will expand Ohio's economic condition and provide thousands of jobs. He referred to the $500 million bond issue for highway construction being presented to the voters this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman predicts the House will soon launch a major investigation of the draft law and feature heavyweight champion Cassius Clay as its star witness.

The prediction came from Rep. William G. Bray, R-Ind., who told a newsman:

"I think the Selective Service made a mistake in rejecting Cassius Clay. I'm not sure what the devil you could do with him. But I think the Army could have found a place for him."

The Army had said Clay was rejected after he failed to pass mental tests.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver plans to leave next Thursday for a trip to advise West Germany on setting up a similar corps.

Shriver said after a meeting Tuesday with President Johnson that he would probably spend three or four days in Bonn. The trip had been arranged last December in talks between Johnson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Shriver said Germany plans to have a corps of 1,500 to 2,000 within a year.

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois was indicted today for federal income tax evasion from 1958 through 1961.

A four-count indictment was returned by the grand jury before Judge William J. Campbell in U.S. District Court on Thursday but was ordered suppressed until this morning.

The amount of taxes allegedly evaded over four years was $46,676.11 on income that the government said was unreported and totaled $82,542.82.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The new president of the American Academy of General Practice criticized medical schools today, saying many of them "do not know how to produce a general practitioner."

"Students coming out of the medical schools have not been taught basic medical knowledge," said Dr. Julius Michaelson of Foley, Ala. in an interview. "Too many of the schools are preoccupied with specialization and research work."

"The boys coming out of the schools have very little practical knowledge."

Dr. Michaelson will be installed as president of the academy tonight, succeeding Dr. Albert E. Ripp of St. Paul, Minn.

DACCA, Pakistan (AP) — A cyclone in the Jessore District of East Pakistan last week-end hit with such savage force that in some villages rescuers found no signs of life, "no bodies, no trees, no house," Gov. Nomen Khan said today.

Officially, 400 bodies have been counted and 700 persons have been listed as injured with 1,000 others missing. But unofficial estimates put the death toll at 2,000.

Regularly since 1960, cyclones have struck this area causing thousands of deaths and massive property damage. The poor of the area live in mud huts.

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — If you are a drinking driver, and convicted in Callaway County, you can go to jail or clean up the litter on the highways—concentrating on beer cans and liquor bottles.

Judge Hugh P. Williamson offered Malcolm Dalrymple, 21, a student at Westminster College from Brentwood, Mo., his choice Monday when he pleaded guilty to careless and reckless driving while drinking.

Dalrymple chose to become the first of a 5-mile road clean-up gang and was ordered to return to court Monday with his litter collection. He also was fined $50 and costs.

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — A power struggle appears under way in the little Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, where Premier Jigme Dorji was assassinated April 5.

The arrest Monday of the deputy army commander, Gen. Chappa Namgyal Bahadur, in connection with Dorji's murder, was seen as part of a move by Bhutan's ruler, Maharaja Hwanchuk, to assert his authority.

ROME (AP) — Rome's coffee bars, restaurants, pastry and wine shops were closed today by a 24-hour strike protesting rising costs.

An association representing the bars and restaurants called the shutdown to pressure the government to do something about inflation.

LONDON (AP) — A West European Socialist study group accused the Soviet government today of "an unprecedented campaign against Judaism" that has led to closure of 75 per cent of the synagogues in seven years.

The committee said a year's study showed that Jews in the Soviet Union are subject to severe discrimination.

MOSCOW (AP) — Czechoslovak President Antonin Novotny has left for Moscow for what was billed as a "friendly visit" to Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who marks his 70th birthday Friday.

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — The U.S. cable ship Long Lines arrived today to start laying a submarine cable linking Japan and the South Pacific island of Guam.

The work is a part of an $80-million project linking Japan and the United States. It is being jointly undertaken by Japan's International Telegraph & Telephone Co. and the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. The 5,950-mile cable will pass through Midway, Wake and the Hawaiian Islands.

The project is scheduled to be completed in time to open trans-Pacific service around June 20.

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer left with his wife today for Honolulu to convalesce from the knife wound a mentally unbalanced Japanese youth gave him March 24.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, World War II Marine Corps ace, has agreed to pay $1,000 to settle the claim of his estranged wife Dolores, for temporary alimony.

JAKARTA (AP) — Foreign correspondent Robert K. McCabe of Newsweek, who was jailed for 28 hours on charges of subversion this week, left Jakarta today for his base in Hong Kong.

McCabe was arrested by Indonesian military police after writing an advisory to his editors saying there might be widespread violence in Jakarta on the day President Sukarno spoke at a rally for anti-Malay volunteers last Monday.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Pearl Bailey has sued the Flamingo Hotel for $150,000, claiming she cut her foot while working at the Las Vegas establishment last March 3.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Milton Berle, 55, is in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital at Hollywood for possible treatment of a stomach ailment.

A hospital spokesman said Berle's ailment was not serious.

BUDDY PLAN — Receiving their oaths of enlistment in the U. S. Army are Gregg M. Parker (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parker, Route 1, and Thomas C. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Ward, 201 W. Ohio St. Recruited by M-Sgt. Stanley R. Nelson, the pair enlisted under the Buddy Plan, which means they will take basic training together at Ft. Knox, Ky. Ward, a 1963 graduate of Circleville High School, has requested airborne training. Parker, who attended Logan Elm High School, has asked for assignment with the Army Engineers.

Coming May Primary Gets Attention of School Board

Attention was focused on the May primary last night during a regular meeting of the Circleville Board of Education. A $1,968,000 bond issue will be decided at the election.

Board and administration officials said they hope to make every effort to inform Circleville School District voters on the critical need for additional facilities on both the high school and elementary levels.

Needs of the district, in addition to a new three-year high school, that would be provided by passage of the bond issue include:

1. Replacement of High Street Elementary on its existing site. This building would include six or seven rooms and multi-purpose and cafeteria rooms;
2. Replacement of Franklin Street Elementary by an addition to the Mound Elementary on the east. This building would also include a cafeteria and multi-purpose room in addition to classrooms; and
3. Two to four additional elementary classrooms in areas of vital need.

THE BOARD pointed out that these additional facilities will accomplish these objectives: 1. Provide each elementary area with necessary, safe, well-equipped classrooms; 2. provide all students in the school district with cafeteria facilities; 3. provide necessary space so that Walnut Street Elementary students will attend S. Court Street School; 4. Eliminates overcrowding in the elementary buildings that presently exists in many primary grades; 5. Insures a continuance of kindergarten (unless the bond issue is approved by voters, kindergarten would probably be eliminated due to lack of space); 6. Provides for junior high program that will include industrial arts, home economics, art and physical education at the seventh and eighth grade level; 7. Provides enough space for

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here is the official U. S. weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Scattered cloudiness moved across Ohio last night, dropping light sprinkles of rain near the Ohio River but preventing the formation of possible frost.

At dawn today, temperatures ranged from 38 at Toledo to 49 at Bellaire. Skies were clear at Chesapeake, Toledo and Findlay, but were partly cloudy elsewhere.

The low pressure area responsible for the strong winds of the past two days had moved to Hudson Bay by this morning and winds were to be lighter over the state today.

Afternoon temperatures were to be in the 60s or low 70s. Little change in temperatures and mostly fair weather was expected Thursday.

A hospital spokesman said Berle's ailment was not serious.

Chem Pupils Set for Tours At Du Pont

A close look at chemical progress in action will be the objective next week when many area high school students visit the Circleville DuPont plant.

The student visitations will be part of the annual observance of National Chemical Week throughout the nation. The special recognition period will extend from Tuesday until Monday.

Classes will visit the Circleville plant on Tuesday Thursday and Friday of next week. Approximately 400 students are expected to participate.

Schools taking part are Circleville, Monroe, Jackson, Williamsport, Logan Elm and Darby from Pickaway County. Representing Ross County will be Union, Bishop Flaget and Kingston-Union.

The observance signifies the 11th anniversary of Chemical Progress Week. Through the years the primary purpose has been to interest students in science and the chemical industry.
